

King Edward Wins Show Of Strength in Effort to Keep Throne and Wally

LOVE And An EMPIRE

OFFICIALS of church and state consider the possibility of his marriage to...

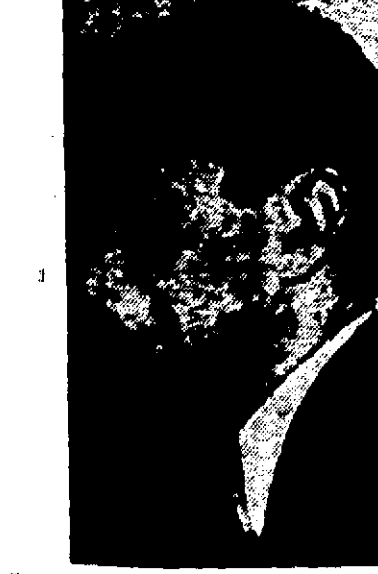

MRS. WALLIS SIMPSON of Baltimore, Md., twice-divorced.

IF HE SERIOUSLY disapproves, the Archbishop of Canterbury can refuse communion to the king.

...and PRIME MINISTER BALDWIN can resign in protest against the match.

...and EDWARD VIII can abdicate his throne in favor of his brother, the Duke of York.

London, Dec. 3 (AP)—King Edward of England won in a first show of strength today in his all-critical fight with Britain's government to keep his throne and his American friend, Wallis Warfield Simpson.

Defiant, yet with his empire's fate close at heart, England's sovereign insisted stubbornly on his right to a private life.

Gray and shaken, Stanley Baldwin, his prime minister, stood before the House of Commons in emotional anticlimax to insist he had nothing to say to the British people.

Then, dramatically, the Laborite colonel, Right Honorable Josiah Clement Wedgwood, told the British Press Association in apparent confirmation of the authoritative impression that the king was winning at least the first phase of his empire-stunning battle.

"The king is beloved. The thing we have got to avoid more than anything else is abdication. Any change will tear this country in two. If a general election comes, the outcome will be on the side of the King."

Words Echo Newspaper

His words echoed those of the Liberal newspaper, The Star, which said: "Why should he (the king) be denied the common happiness of mankind?"

With his self-presumptive brother and Mrs. Simpson herself at his side, the King refused to yield to Baldwin on throne or friendship. But, some sources said, he may have thrust aside the first minister's attack with a pledge he would make no arrangement not satisfactory to the government, the Church and himself.

Col. Wedgwood, commenting on his statement that a general election would result in favor of the king, said:

Hate Seeing Man Bullied.

"The vast bulk of the people hate seeing a man bullied when he thinks he is right and they respect a man who will stand up for his rights."

"Obviously the question is not one for the cabinet to decide but for parliament as a whole as in the case of Richard II."

Wedgwood's statement arose from the motion he formally entered for debate as soon as possible. "That in the opinion of this house, the oath of allegiance which they have already taken to King Edward VIII is unaffected by any form of coexistence therewith or absence therefrom of any dignitary or personage whatsoever; nor will they substitute any other for the King of England."

The involved parliamentary language, which puzzled even the members of commons, means that if the house passed the motion it would in effect extend the King a vote of confidence.

It was considered unlikely, however, that the question will be debated.

Church Service Only.

Wedgwood, who on the authority of parliament recently published the first of a 40-volume history of parliament, said the coronation was a church service only and had nothing whatever to do with the British people aside from their desire to keep up old traditions.

Baldwin, in an unprecedented house of commons setting, stood, white and stubborn, to say: "I have no statement to make" on a constitutional crisis.

Clement R. Attlee, the opposition leader, who reportedly has sided with Baldwin against the King in the prime minister's demand that Edward relinquish the American, asked as the tense members of parliament and the amazed citizenry of the empire waited:

"I would like to ask the prime minister on private motion a question—whether any constitutional difficulties have arisen and whether he has any statement to make."

Baldwin's Reply.

Baldwin replied:

"I have no statement to make today. While there does not at present exist any constitutional difficulty, the situation is of such a nature as to make it inexpedient that I should be questioned about it at this stage."

Queen Mary gave no outward indication today that she is taking any active part in her son's conflict with the cabinet over his friendship for Mrs. Wallis Simpson.

The king called his personal advisers—among whom he numbers his brother, the Duke of York, who would succeed him should the British throne be vacated in the governmental crisis—into conference on the next morning to the grave situation.

Obstinate cabinet members also rushed their campaign to force King Edward to renounce his friendship for the former Baltimore belle.

An authoritative source suggested the government hoped for a swift changeover with the Duke of York acclaimed monarch in event the present ruler decides to surrender in his fight for personal liberty.

Neddie Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, and his wife, went late No. 11 Downing street with Douglas Hogg, chairman of the

Roosevelt Greeted at Montevideo By Large, Rain-Soaked Crowds

11-Inch Snow Atop Minnewaska's Peak, County Forces Busy

The northwest storm which swept down on the eastern portion of the country clogged Ulster county highways with snow and later when the storm turned to rain a heavy coating of ice was deposited on the highways giving traffic much trouble.

Snow varying from a couple of inches in the lower portion of the county to 11 inches atop Minnewaska mountain called out the county snow removal equipment for the first battle of the winter.

Today the highways were cleared of snow but were reported icy and slippery this morning although the county highway department had sanded the dangerous hills and curves.

At 3:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon the county snow removal equipment was started out over the highways. Ben Baldwin, superintendent of equipment at the county garage, reported that there was a heavy fall in the upper sections of the county and that the fall diminished toward the southern portion of the county.

Advices Show Driving.

This morning he reported highways in good condition so far as snow was concerned but slippery in places and advised slow driving. Turns and hills he said had been sanded and were in good condition.

When the snow gave evidence of blocking highways Wednesday afternoon the equipment was put on the move and plows were dispatched to all sections of the county to clear off the snow. This morning all roads had been covered but there were some sections where the plows were returned today to clean up bad conditions.

Ice Conditions General.

Ice conditions were general throughout the county. In southern Ulster from 2 to 3 inches of snow was reported. From Pine Hill through Willow and in the Ashokan reservoir section there was from 4 to 7 inches of snow. At Pine Hill the depth varied from 7 to 10 inches with the depth increasing to the north where there was less rain and a longer fall of snow.

No More Racket.

Racket, Mo., Dec. 3 (AP)—There will be no more racket around here—that is as far as the name of this town is concerned in the official cat-town of the post office department. The office has been discontinued. The town's population has dwindled in recent years from 100 families to nine.

Montevideo, Uruguay, Dec. 3 (AP)—President Franklin D. Roosevelt, returning from his Latin-American voyage of peace, stepped from the cruiser Indianapolis today to the cheers of this tiny republic and into the outstretched arms of President Gabriel Terra.

The President left the Indianapolis at 9:56 a. m., making the last stop of the South American trip during which he inaugurated the inter-American Peace Conference.

On the beflagged shore, a tumultuous crowd, packed behind 3,000 khaki uniformed soldiers, braved a cold rain and wind.

The troops, both cavalry and infantry, lined twelve blocks of the route arranged by a Roosevelt-Terra motor tour.

Escorted by Uruguay's one-ship fleet, the 1,100-ton cruiser Uruguay, and a naval tug, the Indianapolis came up to the dock amid the pealing of Montevideo's church bells.

The Indianapolis fired a 21-gun salute and a single cannon ashore replied. The sirens of harbor craft sent up a din of greeting.

Police regulations prevented a large crowd at the pier itself, and every local and North American newspaperman had a special detective assigned to him.

President Terra and other well-known notables stood on a specially constructed gallery, extending from the edge of the wharf.

Just before the Indianapolis docked, a red and blue uniformed Uruguayan honor guard regiment lined up at the quay. The band aboard the Indianapolis played the Uruguayan National Anthem.

"Here I Am, Terra"

Half way down the gangplank, President Roosevelt paused and smiled.

"Well, here I am, Terra," he said, dispensing with the title of President.

Terra, at the foot of the gangway, grinned broadly and threw out both arms to embrace Mr. Roosevelt. On the arm of his son, James, and President Terra walked to a waiting automobile where he met Gabriel Terra, Jr., the Uruguayan President's son.

Followed by more than a score of official automobiles, the presidential car moved away through the city. The rain had stopped, but the skies were threatening.

For eight blocks along the waterfront, barred to the public, the Presidents and their entourage rode without seeing the crowds forming along Florida street, scene of the afternoon ceremony where James Roosevelt will place a wreath on the monument to General Jose Gervasio Artigas, hero of Uruguay's independence.

Then, the motorcade swept through Florida and into Cerro Largo as far as Cagancha Square, thence to Rambla skirted Uruguay's "blue coast," on the Atlantic.

Seven planes draped in formation overhead as the two Presidents, both gray-haired and broad-chested, exchanged smiling pleasantries.

This capital of South America's smallest nation had greeted itself to welcome President Roosevelt on his neighborhood visit.

New Rebel Attacks Did Little Damage in Madrid; War Spreads in Nation

General Miaja Becomes Virtual Dictator of Capital's Defense and It is Likely He Will Command Commissariat.

LULL IN CAPITAL

Guadarrama Sector Becomes Battle Center Again, as Well as Guadalajara Region.

Madrid, Dec. 3 (AP)—Fascist bombs burst again in Madrid in two new air raids today.

While artillery and machine gun fire and the dull boom of hand grenades sounded incessantly on the University City and model prison fronts in northwestern Madrid, planes dropped a score of bombs in the Rosales section. Several others fell in Retiro Park, near government batteries.

Damage was comparatively slight.

The war spread on many fronts from the Guadarrama mountains north of Madrid to the Cordoba sector of the south. Dispatches from Motero in the Pozoblanco area said government dynamiters had blown up the railroad between Cordoba and Vill.

Continued fighting also was reported in Asturias, to the north.

Gen. Jose Miaja became virtual dictator of Madrid's defense. Creation of a single command for the whole Madrid area was believed probable as a result of a shake-up of the junta yesterday just before three disastrous raids by insurgent bombers.

In addition to heading the defense junta, General Miaja appeared slated to assume charge of the whole Madrid commissariat.

The new line-up—in which Communist Antonio Mije was replaced as war commissar by the Protestant youth representative, Enrique Garcia—probably will be preliminary to the establishment of a supreme command in order to coordinate all defense operations. It was said.

Lull Around Capital

While the conflict about the capital lulled after the bloodiest bombardment of the siege, the civil war spread on several other farflung fronts.

For the first time in many weeks, the Guadarrama Mountain sector, north of Madrid, became a center of fighting. Observers said the conflict appeared to be the opening of a general battle for possession of Pozuelo de Alcañor and Aravaca, Madrid suburbs.

The Guadalajara sector, northeast of the capital, also became the scene of intensive warfare. Government artillery bombarded Fascist positions between Castiblanco and Membrillera.

Behind the insurgents' Madrid lines, on the Tagus river front west of the capital, the government strive to disperse Fascist concentrations with aerial and artillery fire.

War office communiqués also reported heavy fighting south of Grado, near Oviedo in the Bay of Biscay area, where government militia were said to have stormed insurgent parapets in fierce, hand-to-hand fighting.

In Malaga province, militia attacking Fascist-held Victoria were said to have reached the outskirts of Villa Real, a few miles north, behind supporting tanks and cannon.

There was no change in the siege of the capital after the aerial bombardment yesterday in which at least 56 persons were known dead.

Victims Apprehended

Twelve of the victims were asphyxiated in the cellar of an apartment building wrecked by Fascist bombs. Five others were killed in the building itself.

Another was killed by shrapnel which splattered against a house opposite the British embassy.

In the heat of three successive air raids the Scottish ambulance brigade found temporary refuge in a sewer.

The government declared the bombers, which flew at great height to evade Madrid's anti-aircraft batteries, failed to reach any military objectives.

Then, the motorcade swept through Florida and into Cerro Largo as far as Cagancha Square, thence to Rambla skirted Uruguay's "blue coast," on the Atlantic.

Seven planes draped in formation overhead as the two Presidents, both gray-haired and broad-chested, exchanged smiling pleasantries.

This capital of South America's smallest nation had greeted itself to welcome President Roosevelt on his neighborhood visit.

Crowds lined the waterfront streets. Archbishop Juan Francisco Argandoña had ordered the church bells throughout the city to peal. The Uruguayan post office arranged to issue a commemorative stamp to honor of the President's visit.

Not Offered Chairmanship.

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 3 (AP)—Ellis J. Staley, former Supreme court justice, said he has not been offered chairmanship of the Republican state committee despite New York city reports that a majority of upstate judges favor him for the post. "Until an offer is made, I am not going to care to discuss the matter," he said.

Dr. Frank W. Laidlaw, District Supervisor, Had Suggested Establishment of Clinic Devoted to Welfare of Children.

STATE TO PAY

Allotment Provides for Part-Time Doctor, Two Nurses and Clerk; in Municipal Building.

An offer from the state health department for an allotment of state and federal funds to establish a research, educational and diagnostic clinic devoted to child welfare work in Kingston, which was approved by the Board of Health at its November meeting, was approved by the Ulster County Medical Society at its meeting at the Governor Clinton Hotel Wednesday evening, assuring the establishing of the clinic, which will be located in the Municipal Building, adjoining the Central Fire Station on East O'Reilly street. The clinic will be in charge of a part-time physician, two nurses and a clerk, whose salaries will be paid by the state.

The offer, which was made to the Board of Health by Dr. Frank W. Laidlaw, district supervisor of the state health department, several weeks ago and accepted by the health board, had also been referred to the county minors of the County Medical Society. This committee last evening submitted a favorable report on the proposition and the report was approved and adopted by the medical society.

Dr. Laidlaw will appoint the nurses who will be connected with the clinic from a state civil service list. He will also appoint a clerk to have charge of the office here. It is understood that the state health department will ask Mayor C. J. Heiselman to appoint a committee of local physicians and members of the Junior League to have charge of the personal and direct the work in Kingston.

It is expected that the clinic will commence operations here shortly.

The allotment by the state provides for the employment of a half-time physician at $1,500 per annum, two registered nurses at $1,800 per annum, and a clerk at $900 per year. The city is to furnish quarters, heat and light.

This offer of cooperation on the part of the state health department was accepted by the health board at its November meeting after the matter had been thoroughly discussed. Dr. Laidlaw, who attended that meeting, stressed the fact that it was positively not a treatment clinic, but a research, educational and diagnostic clinic, and that treatment questions would be referred to private physicians.

The offer was first broached at the October meeting of the health board and as the fullest cooperation was desired and required from private physicians the matter was placed with the county minors of the County Medical Society.

All of the salaries to be paid for those in charge of the clinic will be furnished by the state health department, and the only expenses to the city will be the supplying of quarters, heat and light. The clinic will be located in the quarters now occupied by the child welfare clinic of the Junior League, in the Municipal Building.

OFFICIAL VOTE ACTION

GIVES ROOSEVELT'S LEAD

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 3 (AP)—Official action of the state board of canvassers placed President Roosevelt's November election vote in his home state of New York at 3,293,222 today as against 2,180,670 for Governor Landon, Republican nominee, a plurality of 1,112,552.

At the same time, Democratic Governor Lehman's total stood at 2,370,325 as compared to 2,450,194 cast for William F. Bleakley, Republican candidate, a margin of 87,869.

The vote was canvassed officially yesterday in the office of the secretary of state.

The canvass disclosed that President Roosevelt carried 12 counties, eight of them upstate, and Governor Lehman had pluralities in eight counties, three of them outside of New York city.

Response Shown In Seal Sale

"With just one week past since the launching of the annual seals sale, residents of this locality have already shown a response that indicates the appreciation of the work done by the Ulster County Committee on Tuberculosis and Public Health," said Judge Joseph M. Fowler today. Some 15,000 packets of seals were mailed to persons of the county with the request that they purchase the seals at a penny each to enable the tuberculosis association to carry on its important health conservation and educational program.

It is generally known through the county that Christmas Seals maintain Camp Happyland where 96 undernourished children from practically every town in the county, in 1936 received one month's care and training in habits and education. The seals also provide nurse service, assisting at chest clinics, tuberculin testing of school children in Kingston and Ulster county and follow-up visits in the homes of patients. The committee carries on a health educational program through talks to groups, motion pictures, exhibits, lectures, etc. Support is also given to the National and State Associations which carry on research and educational programs for finding new methods of attacking the tuberculosis problem.

When one buys and uses these Christmas Seals, he is joining with millions of others throughout the country in fighting tuberculosis. Every seal one buys is a modern bullet in this modern fight against tuberculosis.

FLASHES OF LIFE SKETCHED IN BRIEF

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

What! No Pie?

Jefferson, O.—William Logan, 28, of Geneva, O., landed in jail because he wanted apple pie.

Now he faces 60 days without his favorite piece of resistance because it isn't on the jail menu.

Logan pleaded guilty to assault and battery before Justice of the Peace C. D. Adams, said he beat his wife when he came home to find no apple pie after ordering her to bake one.

Quick, Watson, the Needle.

Shelton, Wash.—When Charles Hanson, 20, sought to enlist in the marines, a shapely but altogether undraped female figure was discovered tattooed on his right arm.

Maj. T. Talmadge Taylor, recruiting officer, objected vigorously to the decoration.

Hanson promptly hunted up a tattoo artist who added a modish, ankle-length gown to the picture. Then Hanson joined the marines.

Journey's End.

Woodward, Okla.—J. E. McCoy, oil company employee, was driving his heavily loaded truck along a muddy road. Suddenly the truck skidded, overturned.

McCoy crawled out of his cab, unhurt, but jittery. The truck was loaded with a ton of dynamite.

Final Christmas Gift.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.—Thirty-five years ago Louis Belanger planted a spruce tree on his cemetery lot. Today, grown to a height of 35 feet, it represented Belanger's final Yuletide gift—standing in the city park as the community Christmas tree. It was cut down after his death so there would be room to bury his body.

Twins Record.

Chicago—More than a score of teachers at Fenger High School see "double" almost daily, but not because of poor eyesight. There are 22 sets of twins in the school, believed to be the highest number in any Chicago school's history. The similarity of some twins extend to their names—Jane and June, Hilda and Hilbert, Mae and Rae.

Few people know that there is an organization, with headquarters in New York city, that sends its engineers to cities throughout America for the purpose of making surveys that save lives and property—and yet, does not make a charge for this service. This organization is the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

William F. Rafferty Dies in Drowning Mishap Wednesday

William F. Rafferty, 37, division sales manager for the Dairyman's League Cooperative Association of New York, a former resident of Kingston, was drowned early Wednesday morning when his automobile was accidentally driven off a dock at the foot of Hudson street in Jersey City.

Mr. Rafferty is a son of Mrs. Mary Rafferty of Newark, formerly of Home street, Kingston, and the late James Rafferty. Besides his mother there survive his wife, Mrs. Pauline Rafferty, and their two children, Diane, 8, and William, Jr., 5, three sisters, Mrs. Maurice J. Cronin of Jersey City, Mrs. Anna Conklin and Mrs. John King, both of Newark.

The funeral will be held from his late home, 2 Crowell street, Maplewood, N. J., Saturday morning, with interment in that place.

According to the New York Times, workmen in the Western Union cable warehouse near by, who saw the car plunge into the Gap, an inlet of the Hudson River, telephoned police, who sent an emergency crew to the scene. The crew worked for almost half an hour before lifting the submerged car to the dock with a winch. Policemen in hip boots waded into the inlet and extricated the body before the car was swung to the dock. Forty-five minutes of emergency treatment, however, failed to revive Mr. Rafferty. Assistant County Physician Arthur P. Hasking said death was caused by drowning.

Mr. Rafferty was on his way home from a dinner in New York, given by his firm, when the accident happened. He had been division sales manager of the Dairyman's League for eight years.

Chloroform, Pain-Killing

Anesthetic Used in 1847

Hearing a woman crying in anguish while undergoing an operation, James Young Simpson, a Scottish medical student, vowed a century ago to evolve pain-killing anesthetics. For years he experimented, testing volatile liquids at grave personal risk. Then, one evening in November, 1847, he retrieved a small bottle of chloroform from under some waste paper in his lumber room. He poured it out into three tumblers, and with his colleagues, Dr. Keith and Dr. Duncan, began the usual inhalation test.

Soon they grew gloriously hilarious, their praises of the liquid's delicious "bouquet" waxing more and more unrestrained. Suddenly, crashing voices seemed to penetrate their ear drums. Then, as if pole-axed, the three fell prostrate on the carpet. Upon recovery, Simpson was instantly impressed by his mental clarity. "This beats ether," he murmured. So a new surgical era was launched, observes a writer in Tit-Bits Magazine.

Previously surgeons tried to put their patients to sleep with hashish, mandragora, opium, and other drugs. Another grim practice, designed to numb the senses, consisted of constricting the patient's carotid arteries. This process, if carried a shade too far, garrotted him. Sir Humphry Davy discovered in 1799 the stupefying power of nitrous oxide. But nearly fifty years passed before surgery enlisted its services.

Rotarians Hear Business Talk

Members of the Kingston Rotary Club were given intimate glimpses into the business activities of several of their fellow-members who have become affiliated with Rotary within the past year, at the regular weekly meeting of the club held at the Governor Clinton Hotel on Wednesday noon.

President Arthur Colligan presented James F. Loughran, chairman of the vocational service committee, who took charge of the program, and he in turn called upon the new members requesting them to describe to the club some of the interesting facts pertaining to their vocations.

Vincent Gorman, the first speaker, discussed in entertaining fashion many phases of department store management and displayed a keen knowledge of the business.

In his talk on the conducting of a drug store, Louis Weber stressed the importance of buying drugs of known quality and purity and issued a warning against the use of anything short of the best drugs obtainable.

Stanley Matthews described his induction into the wholesale grocery business. Among the many interesting points of information that he brought out was the fact that despite the importance of Ulster and adjoining counties in the dairy industry, evaporated milk is one of the leading sellers in the wholesale grocery business. In response to this, Harry Beatty, dairy farmer, expressed the belief that if the public was aware of the extreme care exercised in the production of milk, and the high standards of cleanliness maintained, there would be a decided increase in the sales of bottled milk.

John Van Gonsic described the phenomenal growth of the Adirondack Short Line Bus Corp. within the last 10 years and the development of bus terminals, the importance of which as transportation centers is comparable in some cases to that of the large railroad terminals.

Reynolds Carr spoke of the confidential nature of the relationship between the mortician and his clients. He described the progress made by his profession within the last few decades.

The program was greatly enjoyed by the Rotarians present and was pronounced one of the best of the year.

In legislative bodies of continental Europe, the noun Right is applied to the party seated on the right of the presiding officer, and usually upholding the government in power for the time being; in some countries, the Conservative party; opposed to the Left or Liberals. This use of terms arose in 1791 in the Legislative Assembly of France, and has been gradually extended, says Literary Digest. In European politics, the term Left designates the liberal, radical, or democratic party, because its representatives usually sit on the left side of the deliberative body.

Residents May Now Use WPA Sewer

Residents of Roosevelt avenue, Wrentham street and Wilson avenue may connect with the new sewer constructed in those streets as a WPA project by making the proper application. Residents living on Albany avenue, Harding avenue and Madison avenue may have their houses connected with the new sewer after December 8, by making application.

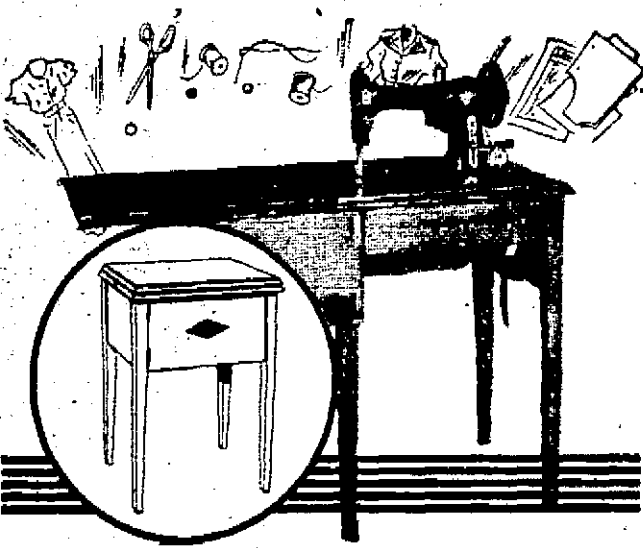

Investigation Pushed.
Syracuse, N. Y., Dec. 3 (AP).—City officials and police pushed an investigation today in the third bombing of the Remington Rand Company plant here since a strike of its employees began last May. Last night's blast smashed 200 windows in the plant, broke 40 panes of glass in an apartment across the street and endangered 100 workmen. No one was injured, although residents of the apartment said they were knocked from chairs by the explosion.

Should Check With Social Service Here

Local organizations who are planning to distribute Christmas baskets to needy families this year are urged to submit the list of names and addresses where they intend to deliver baskets to the Social Service Bureau in the city hall so that there will be no duplication of gifts this season. The Social Service Bureau is acting as a clearing house for this purpose. By using the bureau it will be possible to not only avoid duplication of gifts but also that more families who need aid may receive it.

Highly Marked Appeal.
New York, Dec. 3 (AP).—Vested in dignity and calm, indirect contrast to the sensational personalities of two years ago, Gloria Vanderbilt's struggle for custody of her 12-year-old daughter started all over again today. Louis A. Frolen, attorney for Mrs. Vanderbilt, went before Justice Timothy A. Leary, asking modification of a court order that gave her child for all but week-ends to little Gloria's tremendously wealthy aunt, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney.

IDLE MEN, IDLE MONEY

"With all this talk about taking care of the unemployed worker," says Harry Hopkins, federal work-relief head, "what is going to take care of the unemployed employer? Nothing except the consumers' dollars." Here is a neat statement of a great economic truth which our capitalist system is only beginning to realize. Capitalism is a self-regenerative system which requires that wealth produced shall pass around through economic channels and come back again. As far as industry is concerned, those channels are mainly wage-earners' pockets. Industry can keep busy and make profit, generally speaking, only as long as its products are bought and paid for by its own employees.

Henry Ford discovered the fact long ago, and shaped his policy accordingly. But he alone, or the whole automotive industry alone, couldn't make it work all the time, because these were too many other industries not playing the game in that way, so that periodically consuming power still failed and then industry in general slumped.

It grows more and more clear that the way to make our American economic system work without these calamitous depressions is to focus on consumption, making sure that the great body of consumers shall have consuming power; through regular jobs and good wages; then production and profit will be assured. It may be necessary at times to prime the pump by artificial creation of consuming power, but as a regular thing business itself should be able to keep the pump going. Fortunately industry today is beginning to realize this truth.

FOREIGN FOLLY

These war preparations don't make sense. Following up the German-Japanese treaty, Japan announces that she must have an army "as large as Russia's," and Germany makes a similar announcement. Whatever the compulsion may be, they can't do it. Japan has less than half the population of Russia to draw from, and besides is a small, poor country, even with Manchoukuo, having resources enormously inferior to Russia's. Germany likewise has fewer people and resources. Both together cannot match Russia's potential strength of men and materials.

Russia can create an army as large as the German and Japanese armies together, and probably will. If they continue arming, she is now far advanced industrially, and unified as never before. She might meet both of these enemies at once, on her eastern and western fronts, and fight them off. Both had better beware of "the bear that walks like a man."

Germany has a sort of alliance with Italy, and might coax or force Czechoslovakia, with Hungary or Romania, to join her, enabling her to "get at" Russia and make a drive for the Ukraine and the Ural. But if the nations once start lining up, France and Britain will probably join Russia, so that Germany must face west to protect herself. If they do get into another general mix-up, the European powers may kill each other off, the most highly developed nations dying first, and Russia lasting longest, with this western hemisphere—if we have sense enough to keep out of it—inherit the world.

CAR FEES AND TAXES

Automobile users paid special state taxes amounting to $350,571,900 in 1935. Of this amount $761,523,000 was allocated for highway purposes, including state highways and local roads and streets. Collection and administration costs took $21,761,000. Because of emergency needs, $147,142,000 was diverted to non-highway purposes. Some of it went into general funds, some to public schools and some to relief. At the end of the year about $10,000,000 remained undistributed.

The motorist can look at that record with pride. Even when he was just riding around for fun he was contributing support to a number of extremely useful enterprises. And he need not feel too distressed about the registration fees and gasoline taxes that created the $950,971,000, because today's motorists get more value for the money they spend on their cars—original purchase, maintenance, fuel, etc.—than for most other expenditure.

OPEN-MINDEDNESS

So many surprising things have been done and said since the election that perhaps people are not greatly astonished even by this statement from William Hurd, who was the foremost Republican radio commentator during the campaign. He is now quoted as saying in a public forum:

Industrialists must give up the doctrine of laissez-faire, because without energetic government intervention we cannot have economic freedom.

The only program able to compete with the New Deal would be one to break up all mergers and monopolies, to use the enormous power of the government to stamp out unfair competition.

The tax system must be drastically revised, and conservatives must look at the money question with an open mind instead of constantly shouting "gold standard!"

Even more remarkable than the election itself, perhaps, is the mental change that seems to have followed the election, especially the open-mindedness now revealed by so many conservatives.

TREATING HEART CASES

Those of us who, in former days, saw so many die with tuberculosis of the lungs (consumption as it was then called) have been gratified to see how sanitarium treatment—rest, fresh air and good food—has saved so many lives. And the main point in the treatment has been rest, or the "rest cure" as it is called.

Realizing that rest was the most important factor other methods of securing rest for the affected lung have come into use, one of which is pneumothorax which pumps air or gas against the lung and prevents it moving. The other lung does the necessary work. Another method of securing rest for the lung is cutting the nerve supplying the lung, and also removing a part of the rib or ribs which collapse and so rest the lung.

It would seem that this same idea, giving the affected organ more rest, if being applied to those of chronic heart disease when the heart is gradually failing and death must follow within a certain period—weeks or months.

Dr. E. E. Riesenman, Boston, in the New England Medical Society, Trenton, says that in two and a half years at the Beth Israel Hospital, Boston, about 100 patients have been treated by removing the thyroid gland of the neck. It is the juice of this gland—thyroid extract—which speeds up the action of the various processes of the body. By removing the gland the heart of course continues to beat, but its action is slower and so it gets that much more rest—enough perhaps to prolong life for a considerable time.

Dr. Riesenman says that this operation is of great benefit to those heart patients who have not been helped by any other method known at present.

"If the patients to undergo this operation are carefully selected by observing their basal metabolism (rate at which the body processes including the heart are working) and progress of their disease carefully watched, a satisfactory high percentage of good results can be expected."

To keep down the death rate and obtain the greatest possible number of good results, the patients must be carefully prepared for operation, the operation itself must be carefully and skillfully performed, and, after the operation, the care of these patients during the months and years they have to live must be carefully supervised.

It gives one a thrill to realize that the lives of these hopeless cases of heart disease may now be so greatly prolonged.

Wings For Sally

By BAILEY WOLFE

SYNOPSIS: Dark, handsome Philip Page, returning to his boyhood home, buys the Warren-Courier and back the workmen of the Morris mill in their fight for better living conditions. Sally Warren, attractive, thoughtful society editor loves Terry Maynard, boyish, blond aviator, but permits their engagement to break when she learns that Terry and her willful younger sister, Tip, are in love. Terry is to leave in a week for South America, taking Tip, instead of Sally. Sally throws herself into her work at the Courier, trying to forget.

Chapter 22

Supper In The Garden

It was mid-afternoon before Sally found time to rest a moment. She remembered then that she had eaten no lunch and that she had only coffee for breakfast. Although she wanted no food, she felt weak and shaky. She had decided to go out for a sandwich when Philip rang the bell from his office. Sally got her pencil and knocked at his door.

"Can you take some letters?" he inquired, without looking at her.

Sally seated herself beside him and began to take a letter. Philip spoke rapidly but seldom asked to have anything changed. When he was through and Sally had risen to go, he called her back.

"You must have made a clean sweep of the pantry," said Sally.

"Wait just a minute, Miss Warren," Sally stayed obediently. She was wondering how much longer she could stand up without something to hold her. Her knees felt weak and there was a light that seemed to dance before her eyes.

"Do you mind telling me just why you took Mary Morris to the McDonalds' house?" Philip was saying. "Why, no, I don't mind telling you." Was he angry with her about that? Then he was unreasonable. "I wanted to give Mrs. McDonald some more work and, more than that, I wanted Mary to see some of the terrible houses her father owns. I wanted her to see why it is you're so interested in fighting her father."

"You think that will help us?" demanded Philip. "Do you think Mary Morris will be willing to fight for decent houses for her father's tenants?" "I don't know," Sally's voice sounded to her as if it belonged to someone else. She made a stumbling effort to reach her chair. Philip got up and steadied her, put her into the chair, and left hastily. She closed her eyes wearily. When she opened them again he was back with a glass of water.

"What's the matter, Sally?" "Nothing. I'll be all right in a minute. Sorry to make so much trouble."

"No trouble at all. You're looking very pale. As soon as you feel up to the trip downstairs, I'll take you home."

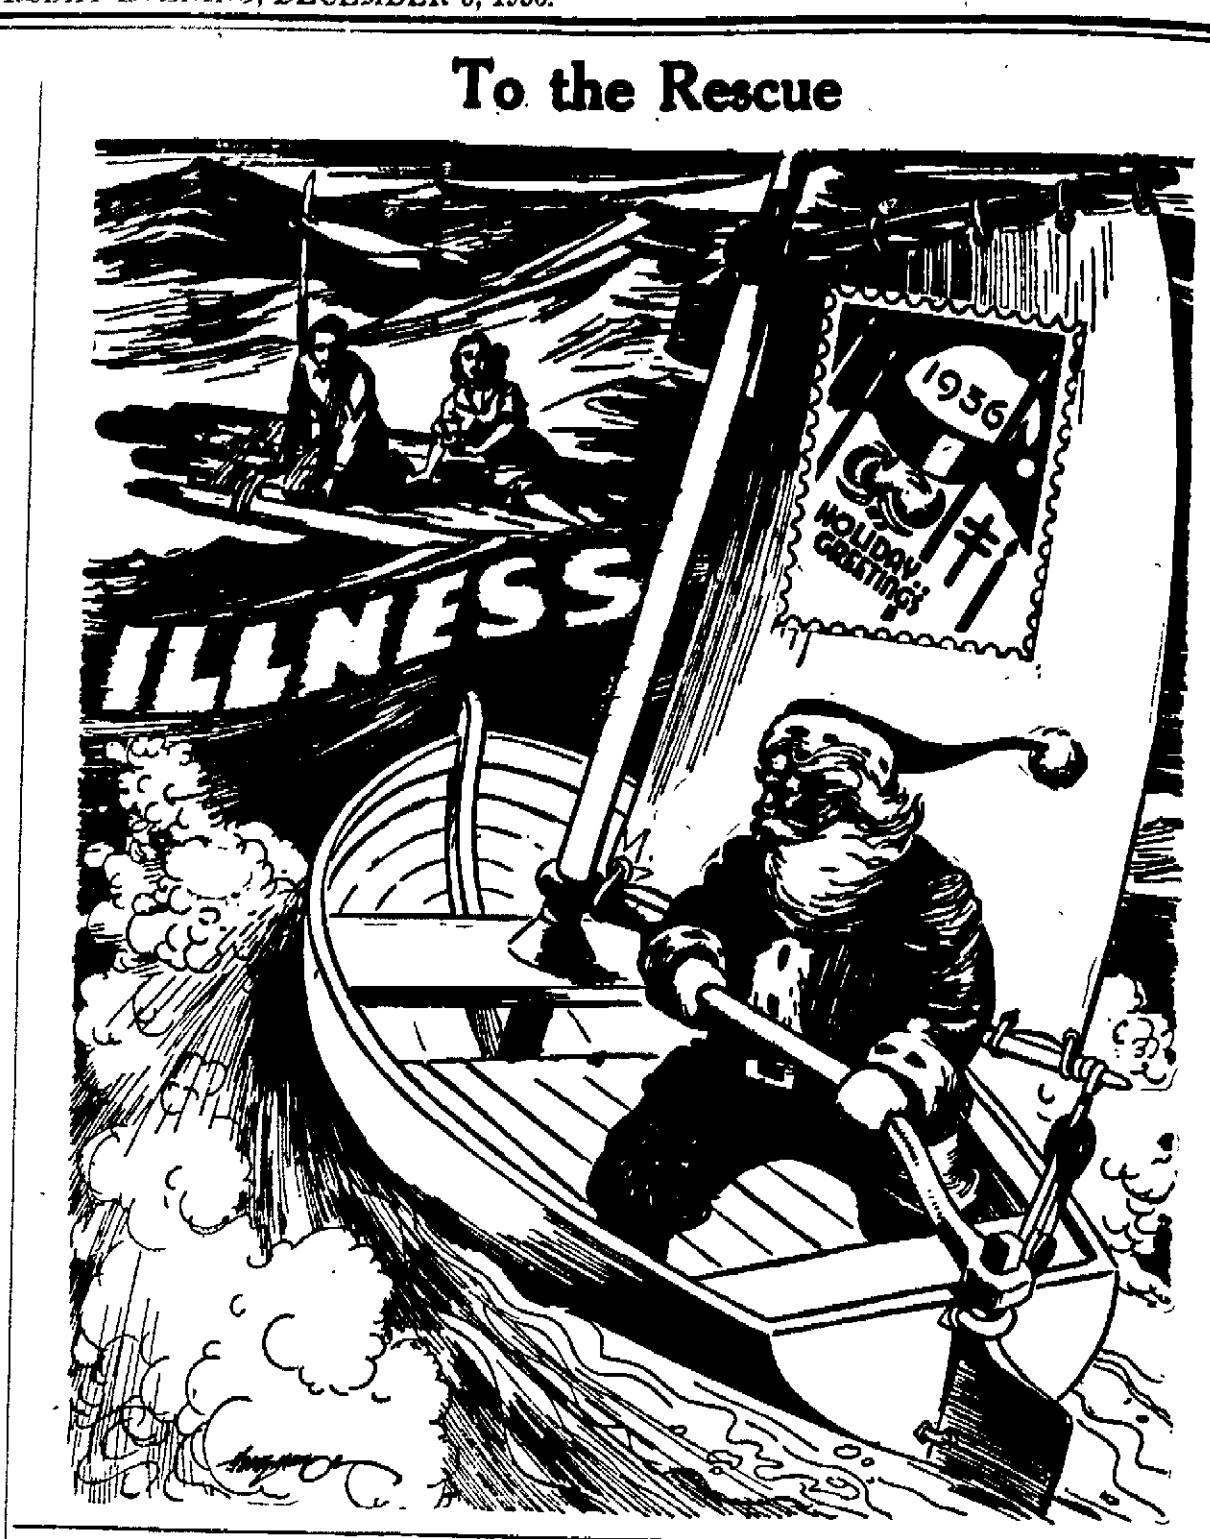

Sally did not want to go home, but she let Philip take her down the stairs and put her into the car. She could walk, but she was none too steady on her feet. She leaned close to the open window of the car and let the breeze blow on her face. Suddenly she knew that she could not go home just now and face her family.

"Please don't take me home," she said. "I can't think of any place to go, but I can't go home."

"All right," said Philip. "Suppose we drive for a little while."

Confession to Philip
 SALLY decided, afterwards, that nothing of all that exciting day was so remarkable as Philip Page's silence as he drove her far into the country so that she could recover from the faint she had so nearly had in his office.

He kept his eyes on the road ahead of them as Sally lay back against the cushion of the car and rested. It was Sally who broke the silence, at last. "I'm all right now. I've taken up enough of your time for one day."

Hi-Y Addressed by Secretary Sisson

The Boys' Hi-Y Club held its regular weekly meeting last night at the Y. M. C. A. After the business session, the group was addressed by Robert Sisson, general secretary of the "Y" who told the boys about the various phases of Y. M. C. A. and the many different classifications of secretaries' positions within the Y. M. C. A. movement. The address was one of a series of vocational presentations which has been planned by the program committee.

Next week the Hi-Y Club intends to have the high school football team as its guests and is arranging a special program for the occasion. On December 16, the club will have a basketball game in the "Y" gym after its club meeting. Chester Baitz, Jr. and N. H. Fuller, advisers of the club, are going to captain rival teams.

Several members of the Hi-Y will also attend the Older Boys' Conference to be held in Albany December 11 to 13.

RICHTER FOR SPEAKER OF THE ASSEMBLY

When the Older Boys' Conference convenes in Albany on December 11, the Kingston delegation will try to elect Gilbert Richter, president of the Kingston Hi-Y Club, to the position of speaker. His nomination has already been made and he will have to run against some of the most capable high school boys in the state. Richter is especially qualified for the job as he has made an excellent presiding officer in the Hi-Y meetings and has been chairman of several important meetings.

Washington Daybook

By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—Much freerhand opinion is available in Washington on what to make of the Supreme court's four-four decision sustaining the New York unemployment act. After all, when the court, in announcing its decision, gives no explanation with it, somebody has to.

About the most significant thing this column heard was the nature of the argument before the court when the case was presented. It was pointed out, then, so a mention is enough now.

The argument sketched over the constitutional issues and went to bat on whether such an act was good and wise for New York state. If it should prove true that economic and sociological argument brought the evident switch of a conservative to the liberal side of the court, that would be immensely important.

Guessers Point To Roberts
 MOST guesses point to Justice Roberts as the conservative who changed position. If so, arguments can be arrayed from either side to justify his stand. It may have been economic argument. But equally it may have been his unconstitutional when enacted by the federal congress may be constitutional under state enactment. Roberts wrote the decision up-setting AAA in which it was held

TALKS TO PARENTS

By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH
 "Tell me the story of the three little pigs."

"But I told you that story yesterday and the day before, and the day before that. Let's have a new story today."

"No, the three little pigs—please! Once upon a time—'you know'—A child will ask for the same story again and again, until the story-teller begins to wish he had never told it in the first place. And we beside the narrator who tries to break the monotony by variations on the original theme. The child remembers every last detail and insists on exact repetition.

A repository of half a dozen of the best fairy tales is enough for any parent to have. "The Three Little Pigs," "Red Riding Hood," "Hansel and Gretel," "Snow White," "Cinderella" and "The Sleeping Beauty" are probably the best choices, though "Jack and the Beanstalk," "The Seven Little Goats" and "Beauty and the Beast" are a good second line of defense.

There is no use in combating this love that a child has for the old and tried. Little children are by nature conservative. It is an expression of the need for security which is innate in humanity. When a child begins to branch out and seek and demand the new and untried, he has passed his childhood and is beginning to assert his independence.

Furthermore the child feels a certain satisfaction in knowing the story beforehand. In a small way it is an intellectual triumph for him, and builds up his self-esteem, which in turn gives him a firmer foundation.

To first stories to children may be monotonous, but it is very satisfactory to all concerned. Gradually, as the child grows older, the written word must be substituted for the spoken. But up to six or seven years the child whose father or mother is a good story-teller, not dependent on reading from books, is a fortunate person.

Sundown Stories

The Celebration
 By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

NOT only did Willy Nilly gather sticks and old leaves for the bonfire, but all the rest of the Puddle Muddlers helped, with the exception of Sweet Face.

"It's just your luck," Christopher said, "not to have to do anything."

"You wouldn't want to have your leg in a plaster cast," bleated Sweet Face.

"With me it would be different, now, now."

"Why? Has, has, has?" "I only have two legs and not very big ones at that. In fact, you'd hardly call them legs, whereas you have four and only one is injured," Christopher answered. "I'll admit you were a good sport, but I don't believe you mind being lousy now."

"I'm tired of having to keep my leg in a stiff position," bleated Sweet Face. "and I'll thank you not to make light of my trouble."

"Pretty hoity-toity, aren't you?" replied Christopher. "But now they were all so interested in the enormous pile of sticks and leaves that they did not bother about anything else."

"It's going to be the biggest and most wonderful bonfire we ever had," exclaimed Willy Nilly. "Now, Bears," he continued, "you'll forgive me if I whisper something to the other Puddle Muddlers. It's just a little secret."

So Willy Nilly in turn whispered something to every one of the Puddle Muddlers except the bear. Evidently they liked the secret for they all nodded and excitedly hurried away.

The bears wondered what surprise was in store for them.

150 Brave Slush to Hear W. B. Benet

More than 150 poetry enthusiasts braved the ice, slush and snow last evening to hear William Rose Benet, noted American editor, critic and poet, discuss "Modern Literature" at the Kingston High School Auditorium. In spite of the general nature of the title, Mr. Benet confined his discussion to a review of poetry and the leading poets since 1900, laying particular emphasis upon the Renaissance in American poetry and the modern trends both in this country and in England.

He prefaced his discussion by explaining that he had always felt a close connection with Kingston, since his father, mother, sister and son and daughter had spent some time here soon after the World War and that when he had told his daughter last evening that he was speaking here, she had replied, "Give my love to Kingston."

Before discussing specific poets and their contributions to literature, the speaker gave a short discussion of the nature of poetry, explaining that it is not confined to verse alone, but is an element that enters into all fine writing. Quoting Samuel Coleridge he explained that the opposite of poetry is not prose, but science. Some modern critics feel that poets should try to achieve a more scientific attitude of mind, but this the speaker felt would be impossible since the poet can never deal with facts alone but must be the interpreter of strong emotion if his writing is to be any good at all. Mr. Benet regrets the tendency that is leading so many writers to confine themselves too strictly to an explanation of their own moods and emotions, and he feels that it is this that is making for unnecessary obscurity.

The lecturer then traced the history of modern poetry in America from 1900, when Richard Hovey and William Vaughn Moody were the only two poets of note writing, to 1912 when interest in poetry was at its lowest ebb and the poet's only chance was to publish a volume at his own expense. Just prior to the War, American poetry experienced a Renaissance which spread like a grass fire across the country. It was at this time that such major figures as Robert Frost, Edward Arlington Robinson, Edgar Lee Master, Carl Sandburg and Vachel Lindsey began to appear. (It is to this period, too, that Mr. Benet belongs.)

The war all but ended poetry entirely, except for a handful of men who still viewed war idealistically or found it a refuge against the all but unbearable reality of war. Rupert Brooke in England and Alan Seeger in the United States were exponents of the romantic ideal, while Siegfried Sassoon and Wilfred Owen in England and Joyce Kilmer over here portrayed the irony of the struggle. With the end of the war came disillusionment and a conviction, at least on the part of the younger writers, of the futility of life. Pre-eminence among these was T. S. Eliot.

Prior to the war a group of writers, finding little in this country that was congenial to them migrated to France where they formed the Imagist School. Ezra Pound was one of the leaders of this group and their ideas and methods of writing were introduced into this country by Amy Lowell. "Free verse" as this new form became known, has done much, Mr. Benet feels, to cure America of a windy, vague, mystic type of writing. Good free verse, he went on to explain, is harder to write than good poetry with form, while poor free verse is easier to write than poor rhymed verse. In his discussion he also showed high regard for American women poets, among the finest of whom he ranked Edna St. Vincent Millay, Eleanor Wylie, and Sara Teasdale.

The latter part of the evening Mr. Benet devoted to the reading of his own verses, explaining that his poetry is of the more traditional type and that although he is much interested in modern types of writing, his ideas and methods have become pretty well settled. He himself considers his ballads, among the best things that he has written. In support of this contention he read as his first selection "The Ballad of Jesse James." This was followed by "Ponies of the New Forest," "The Skater of Ghost Lake," "The Woodcutter's Wife," a portrait of his wife, the late Eleanor Wylie and "Merchants to Cathay."

Mr. Benet was presented under the auspices of the Kingston Schoolwomen's Club. The fourth speaker in this winter series of lectures will be Clayton Hamilton, who will come to Kingston on Wednesday evening, January 6.

A 40-year-old federal statute brought fines of $50 each to seven skippers of fishing boats for "obstructing navigation" in New York harbor.

Painful Piles

Go Quick—No Cutting—No Salves

If you think an operation is always the only way to escape the misery of torturing piles, it's because you haven't heard of HEM-RID, the harmless internal medicine discovered by a western physician. After years of study Dr. F. S. Leonard was convinced that the cause of Piles was internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel—the hemorrhoidal veins filled with stagnant blood—and that the right and safe way to get freedom from Pile misery was to remove the cause with an internal medicine. Immediately the doctor set to work to find the remedy. He succeeded and called his prescription HEM-RID. Pile sufferers everywhere are benefitting by Dr. Leonard's discovery, so why doubt or delay longer when McBride Drug Stores and all druggists say, "No matter what kind of Piles you have, one bottle of HEM-RID tablets must show you the safe, painless way to get rid of your pile misery for money back."—Ad.

WE RESERVE THE RIGHT TO LIMIT QUANTITIES

(The Moss Feature Syndicate, Greensboro, N. C.)

Sometimes we wonder why people have to have a daylight saving plan with clocks turned forward in order to get up in the morning. Wouldn't it be less confusing as to time, the nation over, if people would get up when daylight comes?

A married man buttonholed another and told him a terrible scandal.

Harry—Don't let this go any further, George.

George—No, certainly not. But how did you happen to hear it?

Harry—Oh, from the wife, of course. She's just like all women—can't keep a secret.

A. B.—Well, by jove, Jones, how are you? How have you changed?

C. D.—But my name isn't Jones, sir.

A. B.—What, is your name changed too?

Girls with romantic minds should not jump at conclusions just because this is leap year.

Tommy—Mother, I got a chance to sell our dog for a dollar.

Mother—Why, we paid $2.00 for him a year ago.

Tommy—I know it, but we've had a year's wear out of him, ain't we?

My! My! What a Penalty

I lived a peaceful sort of life; Oh I was gay and free—

Until the day you came along and changed the world for me.

Now days are filled with thoughts of you; I dream of you at night.

And those I liked, before you came, inspire disgust at sight.

To steal one's heart in such a way is surely an offense.

A criminal!—That's what you are, and I'll seek recompense.

I'll take my case to some kind judge and ask for this decree;

Your Honor, won't you hang that thief upon my family tree?

The photographer was taking a picture of a father and his college boy son. The photographer suggested that the boy stand with his hand on his father's shoulder. "More appropriate," suggested the father, "if he stood with his hand in my pocket."

I'm awfully discouraged about my dramatic performance.

Well, you weren't fired, were you? No, but neither was the audience.

The agent (to disappointed former client)—Well, I sold you the business as a going concern. Wot's the grumble—it's gone, ain't it?

Some persons pursue ideals all their lives without catching up with them.

Charles—That fellow must live in a very small apartment.

Frank—How can you tell?

Charles—Why, haven't you noticed that his dog wags his tail up and down, instead of sideways?

Joe—I hear that Spillman has gone to Alaska to settle.

Jake—No; the truth of the matter is that he has gone there to keep from settling.

She—What makes the leaves turn red in the fall?

He—They are blushing to think how green they have been all summer.

Sanford—So your husband's a radical, eh? Does he believe in free love?

Wife—I guess so. He hasn't supported me for eight years.

The man who says he welcomes constructive criticism is usually looking for somebody to agree with him.

Paul—They're looking for a balloon dancer for the new Broadway show.

Amos—Then maybe you can hire my wife.

Paul—Oh, is she a dancer?

Amos—No, but she's shaped like a balloon.

Some people are so tender-hearted they can't hurt any living creature except relatives.

For Walter, you see, is a mighty shrewd bird—

Although you are young you must surely have heard

"The tale of this bold, big, bad man of the skies."

Says Tom, Puffy gasps. Johnny opens his eyes.

Lions Club Buys Bond to Help TB

Saugerties, Dec. 3.—The Saugerties Lions Club at their last meeting held in the Maxwell House on Partition street on Monday evening voted to buy an Ulster County Tuberculosis Society Christmas bond.

The guest speaker of the evening was Frank W. Mason of the Saugerties High School faculty who spoke of the present day affairs in the world and in ending spoke strongly against this country becoming embroiled in another war for glory or power. The address was listened to with keen interest.

County Legion Meets Tonight

There will be a meeting of the Ulster County American Legion in Ellenville tonight. County Commander Austin has set the membership quota for each Post in the county. Kingston Post has been assigned a quota of 415 members. Commander Bill Roedel of the local post will turn in a membership of 450. This total exceeds the 1935 membership of Kingston Post by 16. Last year's membership was 434, the largest realized by the Post in a number of years. The Ladies Auxiliary will meet at the same time. After the meeting a social hour will be enjoyed.

Great Chalk Formation in Mountains of Norway

Geologically speaking, Denmark owes its existence to the mountains of Norway. Every stone in Denmark once was a tourist from Norway, arriving with the glaciers on a submarine reef of chalk and lime, until in a manner similar to the building of the Newfoundland sandbanks by the icebergs from Greenland, Denmark emerged. This fact explains one of the most beautiful sights in the country—coasts of fantastic, chalk formations in many places, observes a writer in the Los Angeles Times.

The grandest of these formations is Moens Klint, and described as "the gem of Denmark." This is a range of white chalk cliffs 400 feet high and about five miles in length rising straight from the sea. The top is forest clad and extends in places to deep gorges which split up the masses of chalk, making points and pinnacles of weird loveliness everywhere. It has stood for thousands of years, but from time to time large masses go back to the sea, as when the well-known "Queen's Chair" formation fell in 1888, making a temporary island off the coast about 700 feet long, which has since disappeared.

Efficiency of Ants

Nursing ants, who rarely see daylight, spend all their time in the subterranean chambers and passageways feeding the larvae and filling the chambers with new eggs. The eggs are laid by the queen. Unlike the short-lived queen bee, she sometimes reaches the amazing age—for insects—of fifteen to seventeen years. All working together these efficient creatures perform their respective duties quickly and skillfully, never making a mistake. They prefer to mind their own business. If one side of their mound is disturbed, they simply remove their activities to the other side. If the disturbance is violent, such as a human foot scuffing up the dirt, the soldier ants will organize and attack.

Spaniards Give Blood For Soldiers At Front

By GEORGE C. JORDAN
Barcelona, Spain, (AP).—Hundreds of persons here are giving their blood for the men and boys on the Arakon front. The transfusions actually are made in the trenches.

A modest newspaper announcement that comrades in the rear-guard could share their blood with the wounded soldiers drew my attention to the story. I went to the hospital named, and from the director, Dr. Federico Duran Jorda, got the details of his work.

Volunteers come to the hospital every night at 7 o'clock. By a test each is classified as belonging to one of four blood groups.

Tested For Disease.
Next the patient's arm is punctured at the inside of the elbow and a small test tube of his blood is drawn out. This is labeled and his name and address taken.

This blood is tested for venereal disease. If it proves free from that, he is notified, returns and gives a tubeful of blood for the cause. The average amount extracted from each person, Dr. Duran said, is 350 cubic centimeters—less than a pint.

The extracted blood is kept at the hospital in bottles on refrigeration. Sodium citrate is added to prevent coagulation. When a sufficient supply has been collected, it is placed under twice atmospheric pressure in special tubes and transported to the front in a truck equipped with electrically refrigerated tanks.

At the front the tube, about 18 inches long and 2 1/2 inches in diameter, is hung on the lapel of the operating doctor. The blood, heated to 104 1/2 degrees Fahrenheit, is released through a rubber tube and ejected by the pressure through a glass needle inserted into the veins of the wounded man.

Doctors Work in Trenches.
"The field hospitals are usually some 15 kilometers behind the lines," Dr. Duran explained. "Not infrequently a man dies before he can be carried that distance. With these tubes, we pump new blood into him right in the very trench where he fell, then carry him to the rear."

Dr. Duran told me this was the first time this method of blood transfusion had been used in war. He said he believed his hospital, which he visited, was the only one practicing it in Spain.

At the time I visited the hospital, 325 persons had given blood in this manner. The night I went, there must have been a dozen persons attended in the 40 minutes I spent on the scene. The doctor said 20 was an average number for an evening.

I went to the hospital suddenly and unannounced. I am sure what I saw was genuine. Among the 12 or 14 persons I saw were men, women and youths of various ages. One donor was a mother who said she had a son "somewhere at the front." Two girls I picked as sweethearts, maybe sisters.

A the annual meetings of the great corporations, many of which are held at this time of year, there are always present holders of a few blocks of shares — and in many instances, holders of only one share each. With various proxy holders casting thousands of votes, their voice in the proceedings means nothing. Yet they turn out in numbers. Often, they are as fully cognizant of the affairs of the company as the officers themselves and always they are given due consideration by the officers and board members. Some of course come to make as much trouble as possible. Others, even though they are decidedly in the minority, are generally interested. With still others, it is a diversion. Retired from actual business, they buy a few shares here and there and attending the meetings gives them something to do — a feeling, at least, that they are still taking part in the business of the country.

It's a leap from the financial center up to Columbus circle and from business to soap-box orators, but last night I happened to stop long enough to hear a ragged, whiskered individual declare that business of all kinds was iniquitous. So far as I could learn, he didn't have any remedy for existing conditions though he was sure that they should be changed. What I started to say, however, was that at Columbus circle there are traffic signs directing vehicles, to "right" and "left." Curiously, the groups seem to divide with those signs, those who support the government standing near the "right" signs and the reds and others moving over to the "left." Consistent observers hold that it always is that way, so it must be by choice and not mere chance.

Addicts of marijuana cigarettes "reefers," "muggles," "good-buts," or in Harlem, "Mary Warners" are having trouble in obtaining supplies. The cigarettes, deadly in their effects, formerly sold at a dime each or three for a quarter, with a heavy Broadway demand. The price now is 50 cents each and many peddlers have retired not only because of difficulty in obtaining stocks but because the government has taken a hand in the matter along with the police narcotic squad. Dealers and peddlers have been retired for periods ranging from a year up. There are said to be 15,000 narcotic addicts in New York city. How many are "Mary Warner" addicts is not known. But prior to this fall, reports have it that the use of them was spreading.

Behind the acute shortage is months of activity on the part of the narcotic squad, aided by the sanitary division of the Works Progress administration. Marijuana is a Mexican weed but it grows anywhere. So it was extensively cultivated in open spaces in Queens, Brooklyn and the Bronx. As the plants grow four feet high, they are easy to spot. Whenever encountered, the WPA men rooted them up. It is estimated that they destroyed in all half a million pounds with a retail value of about $9,000,000.

Harold Sherman told me about an incident on Forty-fourth street near the City club. A pedestrian stopped at a stand and bought a big red apple. Stepping to the curb, he took just one bite when the apple was yanked from his hand. Looking behind him, he saw it being reduced to pulp in the mouth of the steed of a mounted policeman. "Arrest that horse!" he shouted. "He's a thief."

The officer explained that the horse was so accustomed to apple gifts he looked on an apple in a man's hand as his own property. "I withdraw the charge," said the lower, regarding the horse intently. "He's having such a good time with that apple, he's welcome to it."

The proprietor of one of those little neighborhood shops that seem to be open at all hours of the day and night was faced with a problem — a 10 per cent increase in rent. As that would just about take the profits out of the business, much floor walking ensued. Finally he reached the answer—he bought the building and raised all rents except his own.

He's Stung Thrice Daily, but Still Makes Money

Rochester, Minn. — Leslie White, instructor of economic geography in the Rochester High school, has solved the problem of seasonal work and income with a hobby he started twenty years ago. While keeping bees, between $30,000 and $50,000 of them. He expects to market 2 tons of honey and some wax this fall before he returns to his schoolroom for the winter. He gets stung an average of three times a day, but says he doesn't mind.

Honey Still Fights

A copyright story in the Daily News said Honey Hamilton, former Broadway showgirl, asserted her own investigation of the kidnapping of Charles Rosenthal in 1931 cleared her husband, Nicholas Rutigliano. She filed appeal for his release from a 60-year Sing Sing term for the abduction. (Associated Press Photo)

Franklin, Jr., And His Future Bride Both Were 'Born With A Silver Spoon'

HORSEWOMAN

Miss du Pont, whose favorite sport is riding, is shown as she took her thoroughbred jumper neatly over a barrier at the Wilmington horse show this fall.

By SIGRID ARNE.
Second in a Series.
(Copyright, 1936, By Associated Press)
Washington (AP)—In 1914 Oyster Bay, Long Island, was the gathering point for many of the public leaders of the day. They went to talk with "T.R." who had been defeated for a third term on his newly-formed Progressive ticket.

FROM THE ALBUM

Three hours south by train the du Pont plants in Wilmington, Del., were tightening up to meet the strain put on them by the bursting war in Europe.

That year a Roosevelt boy-baby put in his appearance at his grandmother's home, Hyde Park, on the Hudson river above New York. "T.R." was "de-lighted" because the new infant's mother was Anna Eleanor Roosevelt, a niece of his, who had been one of his favorites among the Roosevelt children. He had given her her away when she married another Roosevelt, Franklin Delano, in 1905.

A year after the new Roosevelt arrived, the du Pont clan was enlarged by the birth of a dainty girl.

The Gulf of Mexico, if properly developed, can produce from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 annually in oysters, shrimp and fish, Dr. J. E. Lund, Texas scientist, estimates.

STATE OF NEW YORK COUNTY OF ULSTER—The Home Owners' Cooperative Savings and Loan Association of the City of Kingston, N. Y., Plaintiff, against Beale E. Elin, as Executor of the last Will and Testament of Thomas F. Clancy, deceased, Defendant.

In pursuance of a Judgment of Foreclosure and Sale, made and entered in the above entitled action, bearing date the 25th day of November 1935 and entered in the Ulster County Clerk's office on the 25th day of November 1935, I, the undersigned, Beale E. Elin, in and to the Court House of the County of Ulster and State of New York on the 25th day of November 1935 at 12 o'clock Noon of that day, the following described premises:

All that certain lot, piece or parcel of land situate in North Kingston in the City of Kingston, and is bounded and described as follows: Beginning at a stake set in the ground at the intersection of the south side line of First Avenue and runs thence south, nine degrees and thirty four minutes west, along First Avenue two hundred and eighty eight feet and two inches, thence south, thirty degrees and twenty six minutes east, to the intersection of the south side line of Second Avenue, thence south, four degrees and fifteen minutes west, one hundred and one feet and two inches, thence south, thirty nine degrees and thirty six minutes west, along the line of the same street, two hundred and ninety feet and six inches to the place of beginning, four inches in area of land, be the same more or less, the lines of the same mentioned Avenue and street being located according to a survey and map of the lands of E. B. Smith, made by George Van Elin in the year 1924.

Being the same premises located by Frederick Clancy in Thomas F. Clancy and Beale Elin in and by her last Will and Testament, admitted to probate March 5, 1932 and same premises conveyed by said Smith to Thomas F. Clancy March 5, 1932.

Witness my hand and seal of the County of Ulster, Kingston, N. Y., November 25, 1935.

baby at "Owl's Nest," the home of the Eugene du Ponts, just outside Wilmington in the hills along Kenneth Pike.

To the Manor Born.
Now, two decades later, the babies have grown to adulthood and are planning to marry in June; Ethel du Pont, the beauty of her clan, and Franklin Roosevelt, Jr., the son and namesake of the President.

The two were typical "born with a silver spoon" babies. They had sunny nurseries, attentive nurses and brothers and sisters to frolic with. They went to exclusive private schools where good manners were as much a part of the curriculum as arithmetic. They whizzed around the country-side in early automobiles driven by family chauffeurs. They grubbed in garden plots set aside "for the children." They grew up to own smart roadsters of their own.

Both families are lovers of the out-of-doors. Both had their own riding horses. The boy, Franklin, was lifted to the back of a horse at the door of Hyde Park just about the same year the du Pont groom first led a horse up the circular drive at Owl's Nest for little Miss Ethel.

Both Like Riding.
The two still prefer cantering over the hills to any other recreation, and they have done much of it around the du Pont home in Wilmington and at the du Pont summer cottage at North East Harbor, Maine. Miss Ethel has taken the sport more seriously. She has a stable of mounts which she rides at eastern horse-shows and on which she has won a good array of silver cups and ribbons.

Young Roosevelt has a second sport in boating, in which his whole family is expert. And Miss Ethel's summers on the coast of Maine have made her a good sailor.

Both families have large, comfortable homes, surrounded by rolling lawns, gardens and huge trees. Around Hyde Park is an experimental forest in which the President has indulged his love for amateur forestry. One of the rites when he visits Hyde Park now is to drive through the forest to see how the experiments progress.

Miss Ethel's father also looks proudly from the long windows of his home down a gentle slope covered with a magnificent stand of pine.

"There wasn't a tree here when we built," he says, shyly proud. "I planted all those when we built our home."

SAILOR

Though Franklin shares his fiancée's fondness for horses, the Roosevelt family sport is sailing. Here the two F.R.D.'s—Jr. and Sr.—bring their yawl Myth II into harbor at Marblehead, Mass.

Cosmopolitan Pair.

On the distasteful side of the two immediate families, the prospective mothers-in-law both have favorite sports. Mrs. Roosevelt takes a daily horseback ride at 7 a. m. whenever her crowding engagements permit. Mrs. du Pont is her husband's favorite companion in trap-shooting and on hunting trips. "She shoots very well," her husband says.

Traditionally, the young people of both families visit Europe when they turn 20. Both Franklin and Miss Ethel have had such trips. Miss du Pont's return from Europe last summer was the occasion for a romantic gesture from her suitor, who, impatient of waiting on the dock, called the captain of a tender into taking him down river to board the incoming ship carrying the du Pont family.

A gluttonous roadster was that of John Fay. It ate up more gas than a horse eats hay. A friend then suggested that Richfield be tried. And now the Van budget can take 'em on high.

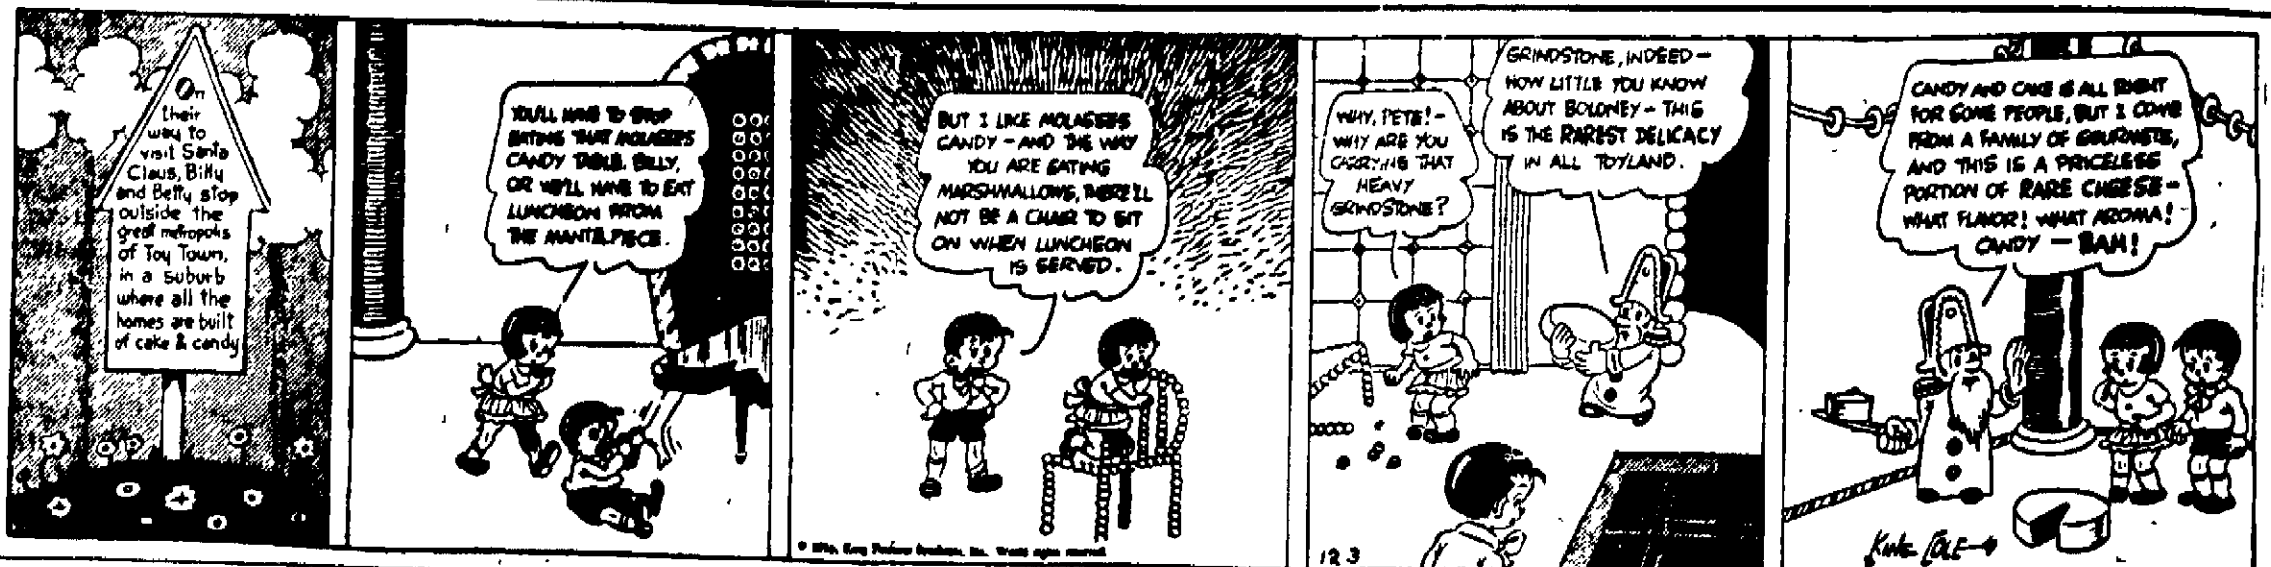

JOHN FAY
Says: "Richfield is the only gasoline that saves me money and gives me a good night's rest."

At The Theatres

A Visit To Santa Claus Land

By Brandon Walsh

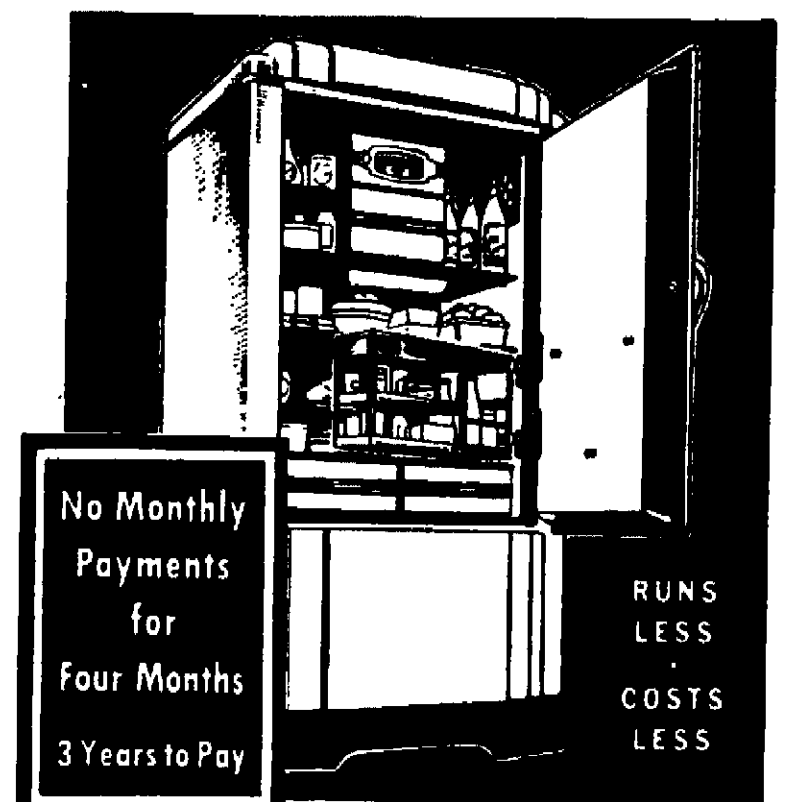

Broadway: "Adventure in Manhattan." Jean Arthur plays the role of a Broadway star who unknowingly aids her producer in a series of remarkable robberies in the feature bill at the midtown theatre and the entire production is effervescent and comical and enjoyably exciting. Directed by Edward Ludwig, produced by Columbia and with a cast of players including Joel McCrea, Reginald Owen, Herman Bing, Thomas Mitchell, John Gallaudet and Robert Warwick, this show is well entertaining with Miss Arthur leading the way through a series of romantic adventures well worth witnessing.

Kingston: "The Girl on the Front Page" and "I Stand Condemned." Mirth and melodrama are nicely mixed in the features at the Kingston Theatre, the first of a series of screaming headlines with Gloria Stuart and Edmund Lowe in the starring roles. The show also offers many moments of comedy. "I Stand Condemned" is a drama with a moral problem and it brings Laurence Oliver and Harry Baur before the cameras in a crime story of grim ramifications.

Orpheum: "Swing Time." The latest of the musical masterpieces of the Rogers-Astaire team graces the Orpheum screen, a glowing, glamorous song and dance presentation with Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers proving all over again their right to be classed as the screen's finest dance duo. Victor Moore and Helen Broderick are also in the cast and the show is an entertaining spectacle to see and hear.

On The Radio Day By Day

Time Is Eastern Standard
New York, Dec. 3 (AP)—The Fred Allen show on NBC Wednesday night is to undergo a certain amount of revision next week. Hereafter the last 20 minutes or so of Fred's hour is not to be devoted to 100-per cent amateurs. Instead unrecognized performers of a professional classification such as sustaining talent from local stations, new discoveries and lesser known night club and vaudeville acts are to be used in addition to the amateurs. Each is to be paid besides trying for the regular prize. The explanation is that the change comes about because of "the decreasing number of amateur applications and the apparent exhaustion of almost all amateur talent in the metropolitan area."

Meanwhile, the Major Bowes hour, now on CBS, the other network amateur program, continues much as it was at the start of the series.

Try these tonight (Thursday): Inter-American conference — WJZ-NBC 11:15, Elsie F. Musser and Caroline O'Day. WEAF-NBC—7:15 Voice of Experience; 8 Rudy Vallée; 9 Showboat; 10 Bing Crosby; 10:08 Ray Pearl orchestra. WABC-CBS—7:15 Ted Husing; 8 Kate Smith; 9 Major Bowes; 10 Then and Now; 10:30 March of Time; 12:30 Phil Harris orchestra. WJZ-NBC—3 Comedy, Sweethearts of Stigma-Stigma; 8:30 Rochester Philharmonic; 9:30 America's Town meeting; 10:30 Jamboree, 12 Henry Busse orchestra.

What to expect Friday: Inter-American conference — WEAF-NBC 6:20 p. m., Edward Tomlinson; WABC-CBS 6:35, H. V. Kaltenborn. WEAF-NBC—2 Music Appreciation (also WJZ-NBC); 4 Tea Time Variety. WABC-CBS—3 Kreiner string quartet; 4:30 U. S. Army band. WJZ-NBC—12:30 Farm and Home hour; 4 Radio Guild.

MENUS OF THE DAY

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE

Holiday Confections

Here are some recipes for Christmas confections. Clip them for future reference:

Molasses Taffy
1 cup molasses 2 tablespoons butter
1 cup water 2 tablespoons vinegar
1 cup sugar

Mix ingredients, boil gently and without stirring until a hard crack ball forms when portion is tested in cup of cold water. Pour immediately into buttered, shallow pan. Allow to stiffen until slightly cool and stiff about the edges. Take up in hands and pull until light. Pull into 1/4-inch rope and cut off one-inch pieces, using scissors. Place on waxed paper to harden.

Glazed Nuts
1 cup sugar 1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
1/2 cup water 1/2 cup nut halves

Boil the sugar, water and cream of tartar gently and without stirring. When the mixture turns a light brown or caramel color, insert nuts, covering completely with the hot syrup. Place on waxed paper to cool.

After the syrup has turned brown, it is desirable to set the pan in a pan of water to keep it soft enough for the coating of the nuts.

Fudge Medley Chocolate Part
3 cups sugar 2 tablespoons butter
2 squares chocolate 1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup water 1/2 cup nuts

Boil the sugar, chocolate, water and butter together, stirring frequently, until soft ball forms when small portion is tested in cup of cold water. Remove from fire and let stand 15 minutes. Add vanilla and beat until creamy and stiff. Pour into buttered, shallow pan. Spread with nuts, pressing down well into candy. Top with white part.

White Part
2 cups sugar 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup milk 1/2 cup butter

Boil the sugar, milk and butter gently. Proceed as for the chocolate part. Pour the candy on top of the chocolate part. When firm, cut into bars or squares.

Blue and green are called "receding colors" and are so used on the stage. For homes, a wall surface or ceiling finished in a light tint of either of these colors makes the walls appear more distant and gives the impression of greater space.

If You are Really Forty-- no remedy on earth will make you twenty again. But if your health is good, life can be far richer at forty than twenty ever dreamed of. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound may help you to be reconciled.

"Your medicine helped me wonderfully at the Change of Life," says Mrs. F. H. McFarland, Route 5, Box 521C, Fort Worth, Texas.

"My strength was all gone and my nerves were all broken down. I felt tired and discouraged. I heard about the Vegetable Compound and have taken it every way and my nerves are much better."

Mrs. Etta Milling, 126 Lennie St. Chester, South Carolina

LIQUID and TABLETS

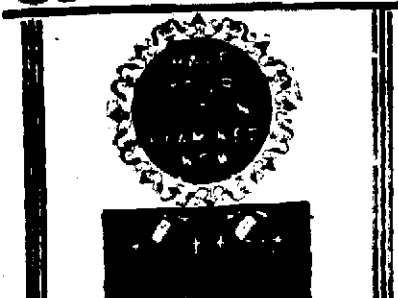

"No medicine did me any good until my mother said, 'Try Lydia Pinkham's.' I have taken it on and off for 20 years, and it always helps me. I am now 42. We live on a farm and I hang paper and clean house."

Mrs. M. Dendinger, R.R. No. 2, North Fairfield, Ohio

House Frocks Go Gay

The new house frocks are made of colorful "calico cottons" whose printed patterns are splashed with several hues, and whose designs are much more tailored than the old models. This one of red and cream printed cotton is designed almost like a street dress with a widened pleated shoulderline and a pleated full trim. The buttons and belt are red suede-finished fabric.

Home Institute

OUR MONEY TROUBLES ARE NOW OVER

Like many others, for the past several years we had been running along on a restricted income. It was not so much the fact that each weekly salary quickly disappeared that worried us, as it was that there was nothing left over for a "security fund." Even though the household accounts were checked every week and each item scrutinized with the care of a visiting bank examiner, there were leaks that didn't show up.

Balancing Our Budget

At first the budget plan of operating the home seemed more like a ball and chain rather than a friendly guide. But as the plan developed we learned that too much was being paid for rent, too little for the right kind of food, as milk, eggs, vegetables, fruits, and others rich in health-giving vitamins.

Then we learned how to set aside the correct portion of our income for such items as gifts, recreation, amusement, books, medical care, insurance, also to be able to put money in the bank. Through our friendly budget plan there now is always money on hand.

Budgeting is simple and easy to operate. Whether your income is $18 a week or $3,000 a year, you can learn exactly what each item should cost in percentage to your income.

It is fully explained in HOW TO BUDGET YOUR INCOME, our new 40-page booklet, that gives sample pages for all expenses and home costs.

Send 15c for our booklet, HOW TO BUDGET YOUR INCOME to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Institute, 109 West 19th Street, New York, N. Y. Write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

LOOK GAY AND SMART ALL DAY LONG IN SIMPLE MARIAN MARTIN MODEL

Pattern 9108

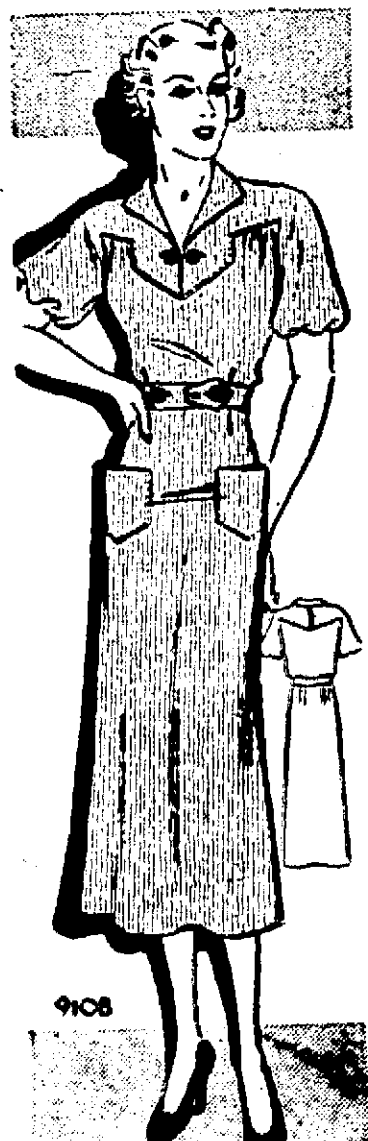

Put it on early in the morning, this spirited wash frock, and let its trim, comfy lines keep you spruce and smart looking throughout your busiest day! Don't you like the jaunty puff of the yoke-sleeves? They may be flared instead, if you prefer. . . Then, too, see the flattery of the turn-back collar and V-neckline—all topping the simplest of bodices! You'll find the perky patch pockets a great convenience for everything from pins to keys, and they also serve as interesting accent for the trim skirt. Even though you've never "sewed a fine seam" before, you'll find Pattern 9108 so delightfully easy to cut, fit, and stitch, that you'll be making it up in many differently colored cotton versions. Complete. Diagrammed. Marian Martin Sew Chart included.

Pattern 9108 may be ordered only in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 16 requires 3 1/2 yards 56 inch fabric.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for EACH MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your SIZE, NAME, ADDRESS, and STYLE NUMBER.

Write immediately for our new MARIAN MARTIN PATTERN BOOK! See the latest styles in frocks, suits, blouses. They're easy-to-make THIS easy-to-open! Flattering fashions for "dress-up" and everyday. Gay outfits for kiddies, Juniors, Debs! Slimming styles for Mother! Helpful gift suggestions, plus latest fabric tips! Send NOW! BOOK IS ONLY FIFTEEN CENTS. PATTERN, TOO, IS BUT FIFTEEN CENTS. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS FOR BOTH WHEN ORDERED TOGETHER.

Woman Makes Career Out Of Dressing Dolls

BIG BUSINESS

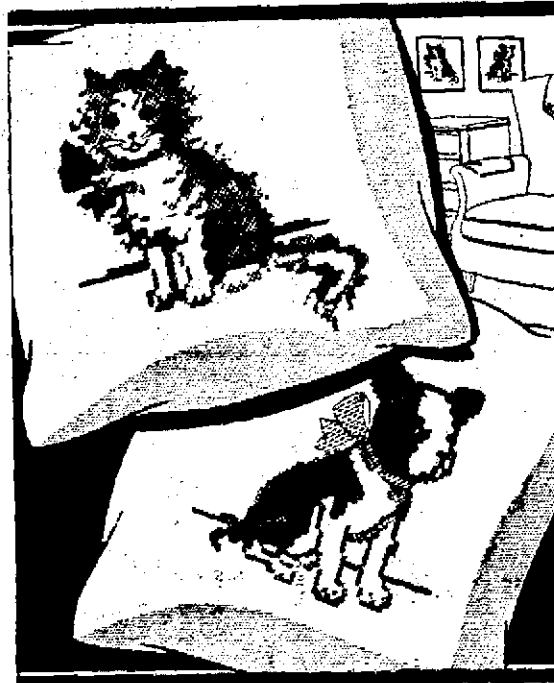

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 3.—Mrs. Nelly Upp designed her first doll clothes when she was less than three years old. Now a mother with two grown sons, she has founded a profitable business—and career—in dressing dolls.

Five years ago Mrs. Upp accompanied a neighbor who tried in vain to purchase a dress for her daughter's doll. Store after store reported it had none in stock. Returning home, Mrs. Upp fashioned several doll dresses of standard size and took them to the head of a department store. He bought them all and gave her an order for more. Since then she has had more business than she can handle.

Last year, with the approach of Christmas, she hired five women to assist her and in the space of three months made and sold more than $1,500 worth of dresses. Now she is designing a factory and plans to begin manufacturing on a national scale next spring.

Mrs. Upp, who is holding a quintuplet doll in the picture above, expects clothes for such dolls will take first rank this year although the greatest demand in the past has been for Shirley Temple outfits.

3 Wagnerian Operas Program Given by Music Study Club

Highland, Dec. 3.—A delightfully arranged program of three Wagnerian operas was presented Tuesday afternoon at the meeting of the Music Study Club at the home of Mrs. Martha C. Schantz. Mrs. William Burke had prepared the program and Mrs. Howard Barton gave a resume of the story of each opera before the music was used. The opening number was the life story of Richard Wagner, read by Mrs. Harry Colyer.

Tannehauser was the first opera used and the musical numbers from that were two vocal solos by Mrs. Edward Kaley, "Dear Hall of Song," and "Elizabeth's Prayer," with Mrs. Burke as accompanist. The instrumental numbers were, "Pilgrims' Chorus" and "Grand March," played by Mrs. Burke. "O Thou Sublime Sweet Evening Star," was sung by Mrs. Gladys Mears.

"Lohengrin" was then taken up with "Gems of Lohengrin" played as a piano solo by Mrs. Arthur Kurtz. Prelude to act three was played as a duet by Mrs. Nathan Williams and Miss Edna Curry, and the "Love Song" rendered by Miss Rose Symes, with Mrs. Burke accompanist. "Tristan and Isolde" opened with the vocal solo, "Dreams," by Mrs. Edward Kaley, who played her own accompaniment and the prelude to the first act was played by Mrs. Arthur Kurtz. The closing number was a piano solo by Mrs. Julius W. Blakely, who gave the "Fantasie from Die Valkurie."

Chopin music was to have formed a part of the program but owing to the lateness of the hour that was omitted. Mrs. Schantz then served raspberry ice and cake and then asked her guests to the dining room where at a beautifully decorated table Mrs. Irving Rathgeb, president of the club, poured coffee and Mrs. Helen Deyo Brown the only active charter member poured tea.

Active members present were Mrs. Howard Barton, Mrs. Julius Warren Blakely, Mrs. Helen D. Brown, Mrs. William Burke, Mrs. Harry Colyer, Miss Edna Curry, Mrs. George E. Dean, Mrs. George Hildebrand, Mrs. Edward Kaley, Mrs. Oliver Kent, Mrs. Arthur W. Kurtz, Mrs. William Lais, Mrs. Gladys Mears, Mrs. Irving Rathgeb, Mrs. Martha Schantz, Miss Rose Symes, Mrs. Nathan Williams. Of the honorary members, Mrs. Jennie Abrams, Mrs. C. E. Baldwin, Mrs. Webster Bond, Mrs. M. E. Maynard, Mrs. Clarence Rathgeb, Miss Mattie Schantz, Mrs. Dora W. Wilkoff. The guests present were, Mrs. D. H. Starr, the Misses Eliza Raymond, Bertha Wisemiller. The meeting on December 15 will be with Mrs. M. E. Maynard and Mrs. Dora Wilkoff assisting hostess and the Christmas music is being arranged by Mrs. Helen D. Brown.

Village News Notes

Highland, Dec. 3.—There was not a large attendance at the meeting of the Women's Club Tuesday evening at the parish house at West Park. The report of the state convention was given by the president, Mrs. A. Loren LeFevre.

Mrs. Edward Ackley, who was ill last week, is better and up and about as usual.

The condition of Karl Weston, a patient in the Benedictine Hospital, Kingston, is reported as better. Mr. Weston is suffering from blood poisoning which spread to his arm from a scratch in his hand.

The Mid-Hudson Stamp Club will be the guests of the Colonial City Club Monday evening at the Governor Clinton Hotel in Kingston.

Harry W. Maynard was re-elected a fire commissioner at the election held Tuesday afternoon and evening. There were 48 votes cast. Charles L. DuBois was also re-elected treasurer of the company. The appropriation of $5,500 was carried by 17 votes. The voting hours were from 4 until 10 o'clock.

DRY BROOK.

Dry Brook, Dec. 3.—Orin and Warren Todd, sons of Mr. and Mrs. David Todd, are quite ill, suffering from intestinal flu.

Several relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rosa were guests at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Stewart, on Sunday, the occasion being a combined wedding reception and the 21st birthday of the groom. A bounteous turkey dinner with all the fixins was served by the hostess. Two beautiful cakes handsomely decorated in honor of the occasion were brought to an already groaning table. Hearty congratulations were extended them both for many future years. They are residing in Fleischmanns, where he is employed by S. Shapiro.

John Vermilvea, president of the Seager Telephone Co. and David Birdsall were in this place on Tuesday making necessary repairs to phones and line.

"Andy" Rose, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ross, who has been quite ill a week suffering from intestinal flu, is greatly improved.

Mrs. George Armstrong, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. George Armstrong, Jr., and children were Kingston shoppers on Friday.

WHY PUT UP WITH PIMPLES, WRINKLES AND A SALLOW SKIN?

So many women throw their charm and beauty away—look years older than they are—because they neglect common constipation. They forget that badly balanced meals, over a period of years, can change how they look and feel.

Often their menus lack the "bulk" needed for regular habits. Then constipation, the beauty-killer, sets in. Other effects may be headaches, listlessness, sleeplessness.

Get "bulk" back into your meals with a delicious cereal: Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. It absorbs moisture within the body, forms a soft mass, gently cleanses the system.

Just eat two tablespoons daily, either as a cereal or in cooked dishes. ALL-BRAN is guaranteed. Try it a week. If not satisfactory, your money will be refunded by the Kellogg Company. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

CHAPPED HANDS

Here's why hundreds of Doctors use Noxzema on their own hands!

IN WINTER, doctors have real trouble with their hands. Cold weather—frequent washing—hands in strong antiseptic solutions—and bad Chapped Hands develop.

And what do doctors use for Chapped Hands? A survey shows that hundreds of doctors use Noxzema Medicated Skin Cream. That's because doctors know that Chapped Hands are CUT HANDS—scores of tiny cracks or cuts in the skin which need medication rather than a perfumed cosmetic.

Quicker relief for YOUR hands

See for yourself how wonderful Noxzema is for Chapped Hands. Apply Noxzema tonight on the sores, reddest chapped hands—as much as the skin will absorb. Note how wonderfully soothing Noxzema is—how much better your hands feel and look in the morning! Remember—Noxzema is greaseless, stainless, non-sticky. Try it on this special trial offer.

Highland.
Highland, Dec. 3.—At the public installation of Highland Grange Tuesday evening, Earl Kisor, once again holds the office of master. The retiring officer was Howard Mackey. Ross Osterhout of Stone Ridge and his staff from the Rosendale Grange formally installed Mr. Kisor; overseer, Christopher Dohrman, lecturer, Mrs. Gladys Mears; steward, Louis Gruner, Jr.; assistant steward, Albert Schrieber; chaplain, Mrs. Hudson Covert; treasurer, Mrs. Albert Shaw; secretary, Mrs. Mabel Schneider; gate keeper, Richard Dowd; Ceres, Mrs. George Schrieber; Pomona, Mrs. Harvey Craig; Flora, Mrs. Mary Carroll; lady assistant steward, Mrs. Chauncey Elliott; executive committee for three years, Lorin

Schantz; juvenile matron, Mrs. Alvin Siller.
A short business meeting was held previous to the installation when Mrs. Charles Bell reported $9.10 as receipts from the card party held November 19 at the home of Grauville Kisor. Mrs. William Dodge was elected a delegate to Pomona Grange to be held at Rosendale on Friday, and Mrs. Gladys Mears was elected to the office of lecturer to take the place of Mrs. Otto Sandleben who had resigned.

The annual Christmas tree will be a feature of the next meeting and each one attending is asked to bring a 10 cent gift. Mrs. William Dodge will have charge of the decorations and a howl lunch will be served.

Following the installation Jacob J. Donovan in well chosen words presented the retiring master with a past master's jewel and Mr. Mackey accepted with thanks and for the co-operation he had received during his term of office. Talks were also given by the new master, Earl Kisor, and Mr. Van Aikdall, master of Rosendale Grange, and others. Mrs. Birs and Mrs. Percy Hatch were reported ill, the latter the result of a fall.

Refreshments of sandwiches, cake and coffee were served by Mr. and Mrs. John Maroldt, Mrs. Martin Dayton, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jeffrey, Louis Gruner, Jr., Miss Pauline Gerkin, Mrs. Arthur Bartlett, Mr. and Mrs. Schuyler Fredericks, Mrs. Harvey Craig, Miss Ella Craig.

There were 10 members present from Rosendale; five present from Clintondale Grange; one from Stone Ridge; two from New Paltz, and 50 from Highland.

It would seem that "social security" is destined to be a political issue for a long time to come. Within the parties there is considerable internal dissension as to what is the proper program to pursue. In the meantime, millions of American citizens are quietly and effectively achieving social security for themselves without benefit of government. They are settling up trust funds and savings accounts. They are buying life insurance in unprecedented amounts—and more and more of the insurance sold is of the annuity type which provides old-age income as well as protection for dependents.

As for those new cars, a fellow could be happy with any of 'em if the others weren't around.

Congress May be Asked to Continue Most of "Nuisance" Taxes in 1937

Washington, Dec. 3 (AP).—Congress may be asked to continue most of a group of "nuisance" taxes scheduled to expire by next July.

The taxes, which provided more than $100,000,000 of revenue in the last fiscal year and returned about $150,000,000 during the first five months of this year, include levies on gasoline, radio sets, mechanical refrigerators, firearms and automobiles and parts.

Although saying no definite decision has been reached as to whether the taxes should be continued, fiscal officials nevertheless added that revenue they produce will be needed if next year's budget is to show an approximate balance.

A joint congressional committee and the treasury are investigating to determine whether the cost of collecting some taxes is excessive in relation to their returns, and tax experts said some expiring "nuisance" levies may fall into this category. Such taxes, they added, could be eliminated without cutting seriously into revenue.

Biggest revenue producer of the special levies is the gasoline tax, which returned $177,000,000 during the last fiscal year. Next highest receipts were realized from the taxes on automobiles and parts, which totaled $55,000,000.

Campaign Contributions

Washington, Dec. 3 (AP).—Senate investigators reported today that John D. Rockefeller, Jr., gave $70,000 to Republican campaign funds, while Democratic organizations received $60,000 from Mrs. James R. E. Cromwell, formerly Doris Duke, the tobacco heiress.

Their contributions were included in a list of large donations compiled by the special Senate committee investigating spending in the recent campaign.

The committee said it hoped to trace the source of most of the $13,000,000 spent by scores of political organizations in the last campaign, as a basis for legislative recommendations to the President and Congress.

Investigators said they expected to seek "far more drastic restrictions" on campaign expenditures than those imposed by present law.

The list made public today showed gifts totaling $50,100 from Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., of New York, president of General Motors Company, to 15 anti-New Deal agencies.

Terrier Family Made Up of Interesting Variety

The terrier family is comprised of Airedales, Bedlington, Borders, Bull terriers, Cairns, Dandie Dinmonts, smooth foxterriers, wire foxterriers, Irish terriers, Kerry Blues, Lakelands, Lhasas, Manchester, miniature and standard sized Schnauzers, Scotties, Sealyhams, Skyes, Welsh terriers, West Highland Whites and Staffordshires.

In this collection, according to a writer in the Philadelphia Inquirer, there are two sizes of terriers. Some are low to the ground, while others are high from the shoulders to their foot pads. The little tykes of undulating conformation, include, Scotties, Sealyhams, Dandies, West Highland Whites and Staffordshires.

After all, the latter group confirms with the original terrier, which derived its name from the Latin, "terra." All of the low terriers were originally used by hunters for "going to earth" in quest of fox and badger.

The "high boys" among the terriers are the Airedale, wire and smooth fox terrier, Welsh, Irish, Bullterrier, standard Schnauzer, Kerry Blue, Staffordshire and Manchester. However, it is noticed that miniature Schnauzers and Welsh are "vest pocket sizes" of the standard Schnauzer and Airedale, respectively.

Border and Lakeland terriers are a trifle higher in body than the Scottie and his squat cousins. The Airedale is the largest in the terrier group.

Lakes of Soap, Fertile

Loam, Pitch and Soda
In the Island of Flores exists a strange phenomenon; two lakes separated only by a thin barrier of rock. Both are opaque and look like huge lakes of paint, for one is ruby-red and the other turquoise-blue.

Nature has made other queer lakes in different parts of the world. relates a writer in Tit-Bits Magazine. In Trinidad there is the pitch lake, from which millions of tons of pure pitch have been extracted, yet the level remains as high as ever. East Africa has a wonderful lake of pure soda in crystalline form—sixteen miles long and eight wide. It is fed by waters carrying the soda in solution, and the sun causes the water to evaporate as fast as it is brought down.

Even queerer is the lake of soap. In Grant county, Washington. In windy weather the surface is covered with thick soapuds, and dark-haired people hesitate to swim there, for they come out bladders.

But the oddest lake of all is Corbica in Jugoslavia. It is ten square miles, and sixty feet deep. Every spring it empties and the bed, which is full of fertile loam, is used for raising crops.

President Asks 21 Republics To Organize For Peace

President Roosevelt is shown opening the Inter-American peace conference in Buenos Aires with a stern warning to old world nations, "where catastrophe impends." POLITICS at Random

By BYRON PRICE
Chief Of Bureau, The Associated Press,
Washington

AMONG the politicians there are three schools of thought on the much-discussed subject of a third term for President Roosevelt.

A surprisingly large number are reasoning that Mr. Roosevelt, with his fair for precedent-smashing, would welcome a third nomination, and will silently look forward to such an event in 1940.

Others believe he has no intention whatever of being a candidate again, and will be forced by the pressure of circumstances to say so definitely before his second administration is far advanced.

Still others are of the opinion that, not intending to run in 1940, he nevertheless will refrain from making any statement, thus using his silence as a lever to maintain his party control during the next four years.

Of course none can possibly know the answer except the President himself. It is not the sort of thing he would discuss at this stage with his friends. If he made any decision now it would be because of the public situation, and in that case his statement would be addressed to the public.

So again he has the politicians guessing. No one loves such an advantage better than he, and the logic of the case argues that he will keep things as they are for a long time to come.

Real Problems Ahead

It cannot be supposed, however, that all of the fun of this situation will be on the side of the President, and all of the embarrassment on the side of those who are trying to read his mind.

Whatever he does—whatever of the three courses he adopts—Mr. Roosevelt is certain to encounter some complications. They may be more than offset by the extraordinary advantage he enjoys, but they are likely to present real problems, nevertheless, and lead to much Presidential reflection.

A decision to run again, or even any gesture which would give the impression of such a decision, would have obvious repercussions. Even as matters stand, congressional debates have been sprinkled with charges of "dictatorship" and a "king complex." A resurgence of this attack, linked with third-term discussion, might conceivably cripple his legislative program during his second term.

Any public statement that he would not accept another nomination would tend to weaken his position for another reason. His silence would be a club, warning embryonic resurrectionists within the party that they might again have him to deal with as party leader in 1940. A renunciation would remove that club from his hands.

Finally, if he decided not to run but kept his decision to himself, there again would be disadvantages as well as advantages. Chief among the embarrassing factors would be the resentment of men in his own party who want to run in 1940 themselves.

Lots Of Possibilities

SOMETHING like that developed in 1928. Mr. Coolidge refused to go beyond his statement that he did not "choose" to run; and many believed he wanted the nomination. Yet Mr. Hoover was running, and Mr. Roosevelt was a member of the Coolidge cabinet. Many who knew both men believe that after those tense pre-convention weeks things never were the same between them.

In Mr. Roosevelt's cabinet are at least two or three who doubtless would like to succeed him. Among Democratic senators and governors are many others. Can a non-committal Presidential attitude be maintained without serious intra-party disturbance?

It is, altogether, a most intriguing situation, crammed with possibilities, capable of producing enough fun and enough grief to satisfy everybody. Who will profit most by it cannot, at this stage, be even guessed.

Time-honored Yuletide confessions as well as "turkey and stuff" are essential to any well-rounded program of food preparation for the holiday season.

It does seem sort of queer, too, that it takes 12 jurymen out of 12 to condemn an accused citizen but only five judges out of nine to condemn an accused law.

Benedictine Ladies Annual Meeting

Loughran, second vice president, Mrs. Philip Foster; third vice president, Miss Mary McGill; fourth vice president, Miss Margaret Kennedy; fifth vice president, Mrs. Samuel Mann; recording secretary, Mrs. George Moore; corresponding secretary, Mrs. James T. O'Reilly; treasurer, Miss Mary Campbell.

Secretary's Report.

The report of the recording secretary, Mrs. Frank Egan was then presented and proved to be of much interest. In it she said:

"Ladies Auxiliary of the Benedictine Hospital. I am very happy to present a report of the work accomplished since the last annual meeting in December, 1935, at which time the annual tea was held. This event with its very fine program was a creditable reflection on the out-going officers and an inspiration to the newly elected president, Mrs. James Higley, and her official staff for the coming year.

"The Christmas decorations of the Benedictine Hospital and Nurses' home showed in no small way the artistic ability of the junior auxiliary and its assistants, and brought plenty of cheer to the patients of the hospital.

"The tea dance held at the Governor Clinton Hotel, New Year's Day, by the Junior Auxiliary was a most enjoyable affair.

"Small card parties held by the members during the year at their own convenience realized quite a sum of money.

"The annual Charity Ball held Easter Monday night was the outstanding affair of the season. President Mrs. James Higley and her efficient committees in charge of tickets, music, entertainment, decorations, supper, and flower booths and check rooms are to be congratulated on their splendid piece of work with the result of a final report of gross receipts $2,628.18, less disbursements $542.69. Net receipts given to Sister Benedictine amounting to $2,085.49.

"In October the graduate nurses of the Benedictine Hospital School of Nursing were entertained with a luncheon and bridge at the Governor Clinton Hotel by the auxiliary. In addition to this a gift of $100 was donated to the Sister Aloysia Scholarship Fund of $300 to be awarded as a Sister Aloysia scholarship prize and given to the graduate nurse having the highest average in her class.

"A card party was held in St. Peter's Hall, Rosendale, in October under the auspices of the Ladies Auxiliary of Rosendale with Mrs. Philip Foster, chairman. This was also a social and financial success netting the sum of $102.08.

"The social activity committee appointed by President Higley are Mrs. J. W. Leary, Mrs. Albert Cook, Mrs. Walter Miller, Jr., and Miss Margaret Kennedy. They will have charge of the annual tea at the December meeting. We hope you will enjoy it as much as in former years.

"Concluding we ask the same loyal support and cooperation in the future as you have always given to the Ladies Auxiliary of the Benedictine Hospital.

Respectfully submitted,
JULIETTA EGAN
Rec.-Sec'y.

A report always looked forward to eagerly and with hopefulness was that of the treasurer, Miss Mary F. Campbell, which report is given below:

Additional reports of committees were given as follows:

Report of the purchasing committee for the past year, Mrs. Walter Miller, Sr., chairman: Botta of outfitting flannel, 2; bolts of muslin, 2.

Report of layette committee for the past year, Mrs. Albert Bott, chairman: Baby dresses, 147.

Report of sewing committee for the past year, Mrs. William Tanberger, chairman: Large muslin sheets, 22.

Rosendale Auxiliary, Mrs. Philip Foster, chairman: Binders, 44.

Perhaps the one report looked forward to with the keenest interest each year is that of the superintendent of the Benedictine Hospital, Sister M. Berenice, R. N., and her report this year, which follows, was received with heartfelt applause:

Members of the Ladies' Auxiliary and Friends:

Another year of efficient and profitable service has been contributed by the members of our ladies' auxiliary under the inspiring and enthusiastic leadership of Mrs. James Higley.

The auxiliary has continued to grow and has exerted every effort to familiarize itself with the importance and seriousness of its work for the hospital. As did her predecessors, Mrs. Higley has had the fullest cooperation from each officer and member of the auxiliary. This has been manifested during the entire year when Mrs. Higley from time to time suggested various social activities that would financially benefit the hospital.

Perhaps at no time was this more evident than at the time of our Easter Ball when each and every member worked indefatigably to make it an outstanding success. As in former years this great undertaking has always required much courage and ingenuity on the part of the general chairman to make it both a financial and social success. Mrs. Higley and her officers were untiring in their efforts to make it equal, if not superior to, events of previous years. Their perseverance was rewarded as usual by a generous and wholehearted response from an appreciative and truly generous public.

In various other ways has the thoughtful help of the auxiliary been shown. Worthy of note is the fine spirit of enthusiasm evidenced each year in their planning and preparation for the luncheon given to our graduating class. This year the auxiliary has increased its annual prize of $10 to $100 toward the Scholarship Fund in memory of Sister Aloysia.

The sewing and layette committees have devoted considerable time in providing linen articles for the hospital. The buying committee have likewise served faithfully in purchasing the material for the many useful articles made. Our Rosendale friends have also contributed of their time in sewing, and assisting in making our recent Rosendale card party a success.

The Junior Auxiliary is falling in line and following the splendid example of their seniors. As a result of their successful teas, they were able, the early part of the year, to contribute $100 to the hospital.

We who are administering within the walls of our hospital fully appreciate and realize the real value of the interest and support so generously contributed each year by our loyal Auxiliary members. Today every hospital needs the widest possible support from its community. What finer example of wholehearted interest in human welfare can be found than devoted members in an auxiliary banded together in order to encourage and assist the hospital in its endeavor to help suffering humanity.

Respectfully submitted,
SISTER M. BERENICE, R. N.

After expressing her appreciation and praise for the year's efforts on the part of the auxiliary as shown in the carefully prepared reports, Mrs. Higley presented the speaker for the afternoon, Joseph J. Weber, superintendent of Vassar Hospital, Poughkeepsie, who spoke very understandingly on "Hospitalization" in connection with the new plan of low cost hospital service.

Mr. Weber, a very genial man, started what might have been a dry and serious talk with a story from "The Modern Hospital," that was "illuminating" in more senses than one. It seems that in a two-bed room in a hospital one patient had been there for over a month and the other had come in but a few hours before the following conversation occurred. The newcomer asked his senior in the room if it was true, the story he had heard, that they did not give any anesthetic in advance to a patient about to have a major operation such as he was about to undergo, and he asked the question very anxiously. The senior replied, "No, they don't have to give an anesthetic; they give you your bill in advance."

Then Mr. Weber went on to explain this plan whereby people of moderate means might be able to have necessary hospital service without almost wrecking the family finances, by making use of the three-cent-a-day plan. The speaker said it was not a new idea, having been in operation in some sections of the country for some five years. It has been and will be under the supervision of the State Insurance Department of this state.

The Medical Society of the county of New York was one of the earliest advocates of the Associated Hospital Society, and Mr. Weber conceived of the idea of uniting the hospitals, through the county medical societies of the Hudson valley from New York to Albany, the Capital District, into a division of the organization in New York rather than creating a new organization, and thus reducing the cost of carrying on the plan.

The New York Society accepted the suggestion and now the hospitals in the Hudson valley are included in such a division.

Some of the important facts given follow, but during the coming week workers will be able to find out for him or herself all of the details of the new plan.

To begin with, one must be a member of a group of people already in existence, having a membership of 10 or more, as for instance, a church organization, a club organization, a business concern or the like.

The cost will be $10 a year for an eligible individual; $18 a year for a man and wife who are eligible; $24 a year for a man and wife and all unmarried children under the age of 19 years, and the payments may be made monthly, quarterly, semi-annually or annually.

For such payments one will be entitled to:

Hospital care for 21 days in one or more admissions.

Semi-private accommodations (not ward).

Use of the operating room.

Use of the maternity delivery room (after the mother has been a subscriber for one year). Also includes nursery service, but not other hospital care, for newborn children of these mothers.

Necessary X-ray and laboratory examinations for bed patients requiring hospital care.

Anesthesia is included only when administered by a salaried employee of the hospital.

General nursing care.

Routine medications and dressings.

Private room upon the payment of the difference between $4.50 and the daily rate of the room selected. Subscribers selecting a private room are entitled to all the other services listed above.

Discount of 25 per cent of semi-private hospital charges after first 21 days.

These services will be rendered for any illness or injury except pulmonary tuberculosis, venereal diseases, Workmen's Compensation Law cases, quarantinable disease or mental disorders.

But doctors' fees, surgeons' fees, the services of special graduate nurses including their board are not included.

One may not only have free choice of physicians but of hospitals in the area where this plan operates. What is more, if one is travelling in any part of this country or abroad where this hospitalization plan is in effect, and because of emergency needs hospital care, and shows their membership card, which is their receipt, they will find the above mentioned services available, without additional expense.

"Applicants must be in good health, not more than 65 years old, residents of the area served by our 200 hospitals," said Mr. Weber.

There were many questions asked of Mr. Weber, who answered them in such fashion as to make the matter very clear. He was heartily thanked for his informing talk on this exceedingly important subject.

After the address, tea was served. Mrs. John N. Cordts and Miss Mary McGill presiding at the very attractive tea table. Members of the junior auxiliary served those present with very dainty refreshments. Jacob Molloy's orchestra furnished pleasant music during the social hour.

The social activity committee having the tea in charge included, Mrs. J. W. Leary, Mrs. Albert Cook, Mrs. Walter Miller, Jr., and Miss Margaret Cook.

Hail of Three Different Kinds, Authority Relates

There are at least three different kinds of icy lumps and pellets that fall from the sky, and they have all been called hail. What science regards as true hail occurs only in connection with thunderstorms, either incipient or fully developed, and therefore, chiefly in warm weather. It often falls in tornadoes, but probably only when these occur in a thunderstorm area, notes a writer in Natural History.

Hail, as thus distinguished, consists of balls or irregular lumps, each of which, on examination, is usually found to have an opaque snow-like center, surrounded by ice, which is often in alternately clear and opaque layers.

The second class of icy particles takes the form of miniature snowballs, about the size of large shot or small peas. It falls in cold weather, often in conjunction with ordinary snow. Because it readily crumbles, English-speaking meteorologists have commonly called it "soft hail," but this term gives way to the German name "graupel."

Lastly, little pellets or angular particles of clear ice sometimes fall in cold weather. These frozen drops, though fairly common, have until recently enjoyed the distinction of being anonymous, so far as the scientific world was concerned. In the year 1910, the United States weather bureau solemnly decreed that such ice particles should be called "sleet"—a word, alas, of wary meanings.

More Than 100 Patents Were Granted to Edison

More than 100 patents were issued to Thomas Edison during his lifetime. The most important inventions include:

Machines for quadruplex and sextuple telegraphic transmission; the electric pen and mimeograph; the carbon telephone transmitter; the microtensimeter, for the detection of small changes in temperature; the megaphone, to magnify sound; the phonograph; the incandescent lamp and light system; the electric valve (at first called the "Edison effect"), now fundamentally essential in wireless telegraphy; a system of wireless telegraphy to and from moving railway trains; motion pictures; the telecube and the alkaline storage battery.

Edison's first patent was granted to him before he was twenty-four, on a vote-recording device intended for use in parliamentary bodies. For the next few years his attention was devoted to improvements in telegraphy, and his longest list of patents pertain to the subject.

During the war he reported forty-five inventions to various government bodies. All of them, he said, were pigeon-holed. Among these inventions were sea anchors to turn ships quickly; a torpedo-obstructing net; an under-water searchlight; a means of taking nitrogen from the air; a stabilizer for submarines; a fire extinguisher for coal bunkers; a ship telephone system, a night glass and a rust preventive for guns.

His last invention prior to his death, October 18, 1931, was a process for extracting rubber from goldenrod.

Windermere is the largest of English lakes. Ullswater is the second largest.

The largest of the Aleutian Islands, Alaska, is Unimak. It is barren and mountainous.

TO MAKE APPEAL TO AID SPANISH REFUGEES

Kingston residents will be asked between now and Christmas to contribute clothing, medical supplies and canned food to refugees of the Spanish civil war. A voluntary committee is working on this humanitarian program and the cooperation of local people is fully anticipated.

Arrangements will be made to collect articles which will be useful but those who can be asked to leave bundles at the home of the Rev. Howard D. McGrath, 123 Clinton avenue. There will be regular sailings of relief ships to carry help to these victims of the war, thousands of whom are children.

Those who have no goods to contribute may give money if they wish. Further help will be asked for as needed after the Christmas holidays but a special appeal is made now so that some of these unfortunate may give some comfort if not joy at the coming holiday season. Committees of appeal are similarly at work in other cities throughout the country.

Players' Guild to Meet This Evening

An important meeting of the Kingston Players' Guild will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the Municipal Auditorium. All members are requested to make a special effort to be present.

St. Remy Play
The Young People of Port Ewen will present a play, "The Second Mile," at the St. Remy Reformed Church, Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

No. 4 P.T.A. Card Party
There will be a card party, piano, bridge, and progressive pinocle, held by the Parent-Teacher Association of School No. 4, Friday at 8:30 p. m. The patronage of the public is solicited and will be appreciated.

King Edward Wins Show Of Strength

Conservative party. Lord Halifax, Lord privy seal, arrived at No. 10. The crowd outside grew as the minutes wore on, new arrivals conversing with their neighbors on the gravity of the situation.

The financial district clamored for a quick statement on the government's position in its constitutional fight with the king over Mrs. Simpson.

Effects on Market

Financial leaders expressed fear over possible effects on the stock exchange and the money market. Business was almost suspended from today's opening, awaiting the outcome of the unprecedented situation.

British government securities dropped a quarter of a point. Other markets were stagnant. Traders refused to deal.

The British public, which today was learning of Mrs. Simpson's association with the king through newspapers which finally named the American woman after weeks of veiled comment, still had little knowledge of how close she stood in the royal councils.

Few knew Mrs. Simpson was with the king and the Duke and Duchess of York at the country residence. She stood at the king's side, however, in the critical hours which may decide the future of the British throne together with the question of whether King Edward ever will wear the crown.

A spokesman at No. 10 Downing street declared "the matter is now a constitutional issue."

An authoritative source stated the cabinet, having told the ruler exactly how the situation stood, was waiting for him to make the next move.

Expect Reply Soon

A definite reply to the ministerial objections against the king's possible marriage was expected from the sovereign before nightfall.

In later trading, stock exchange dealings showed some recovery from early declines with industrials steady but hotel shares weak.

Reports that the London Stock Exchange might close until the crisis is settled circulated in provincial cities.

"I cannot conceive the Exchange should close," said an official in close touch with the situation. "It must not be assumed that because the Exchange closed when the country went off the gold standard it will close now."

Shortly after noon the crowd surging through Downing Street became so unruly that an inspector of police from Scotland Yard hurriedly ordered the almost unprecedented action of clearing the little dead end street.

The crowds around No. 10 Downing Street and Buckingham Palace swelled with the noon hour.

A guard of mounted police was posted around the palace to keep the populace moving.

Papers at Premium

First editions of the noon papers were snapped up by the crowds as soon as they appeared on the street. Most of the people could be seen examining pictures of Mrs. Simpson with critical interest.

During the morning several visitors forced their way through the crowd into Buckingham Palace. One was Sir Eric Merville, private secretary to the Duke of York.

Indicating the gravity with which informed circles view the situation, one News Service hurriedly sent a 22 page biography of Edward to all its member papers.

Its heading placed emphasis on the king's accession promise last January that he was "determined to follow in my father's footsteps."

The article also recalled significantly that at Edward's request Parliament granted him an extra purse of £40,000 ($200,000) a year in the event of his marriage.

The Church of England will not have Mrs. Simpson as King Edward's wife at any price, the Church Times, organ of the Church of England, declared flaring up militantly behind Baldwin and the cabinet.

Church Objects

Marriage between the king and Mrs. Simpson would be unacceptable, the religious organ insisted, because of the fundamental effect it would have on the relations between church and state.

The article referred to rumors the king might solve the problem of his private life by marrying Mrs. Simpson, making her Duchess of Cornwall and asking Parliament to pass an act of exclusion barring the issue of any such marriage from the throne.

Britain has learned "with profound sorrow and dismay," the Church Times said, that King Edward intends to marry "an American lady who has divorced two husbands."

Prime Minister Baldwin sat tight at his official Downing Street residence throughout the morning awaiting Edward's answer to the cabinet ultimatum.

The corridors of the House of Commons were crowded by members waiting the Prime Minister's call.

The Duke of York was officially announced to have canceled a scheduled visit to the Wandsworth Technical Institute after he was called to Fort Belvedere for the conference with his brother and king.

A crowd gathered outside Marlborough House also hoping to see the aging Queen Mary, Edward's mother, who took up her residence there after the death of King George V.

St. Ralph Harwood, financial secretary to the king, chose this crucial moment to announce his retirement from the royal service.

St. Ralph gave no reason for his action, which caused a report to spread immediately he had disagreed with the king's obstinate stand against a stabbers cabinet.

No. 10 Says Cabinet

Let by Prime Minister Baldwin, the cabinet was declared to have been an "unprecedented" "No. 10" at the monarch during lengthy, secret discussions over what was described as the "most acute, gravest, moment in the history of the empire."

The king was represented as equal-

Bishop 'Concerned'

Dr. A. W. F. Blunt (above), Bishop of Bradford, started a widespread comment in English newspapers when he expressed concern for King Edward's private life. He did not refer to "the Simpson affair," but mentioned the King's awareness of his need for "God's grace." (Associated Press Photo)

Lord Derby 'Retires'

Concurrent with the rise in prominence of "the Simpson affair" came the announcement of the "retirement" from politics of Lord Derby (above), close personal friend of Edward's father, the late George V. (Associated Press Photo) ly obdurate, despite cabinet threats of mass resignation which could, under parliamentary procedure, force his removal from the throne.

The full controversy burst into prominence in the London Press, highlighted by a Daily Mirror headline which shouted:

"The king wants to marry Mrs. Simpson! Cabinet advises 'No!'"

The Mirror was the second newspaper within a few hours to bring into the open the dispute which has gained momentum in discreet discussions for several months.

The News-Chronicle was the first openly to name the former American debutante, suggesting the marriage—"A true love match—and a democratic one at that—"would be popular."

The crisis was brought to a head, informed sources declared, by a visit by Prime Minister Baldwin to Buckingham Palace. There, it was said, the ranking minister delivered the cabinet's views.

Having received the ruler's answer, Baldwin retraced his way to the House of Commons. The king put on his overcoat and left the palace for Fort Belvedere.

Rumors swept the city in unprecedented fashion. One which was without confirmation declared the king intended to abdicate and leave England with his American friend.

Highly reliable sources, asserted, however, the "king intends to stick to his guns, dealing with each critical situation as it arises."

Cabinet Ready

Upon instruction from the prime minister, the cabinet held itself in readiness to convene suddenly for further discussion on the deadlock.

Baldwin was reported preparing for a showdown, with the cards of the government stacked against the king so far as official support for what he considers a "private decision."

If the cabinet should resign in a body, as many expected in view of the king's firm stand, the ruler probably would not be able to form "another government," authoritative Parliamentarians said.

Baldwin knows that and has told King Edward the exact situation, they said.

Under Parliamentary procedure, if the ministers disagree with any of the king's actions in which they deem themselves responsible to Parliament, they have the privilege of resigning. Then the monarch faced the problem of forming a new government.

If he is not able to do this, then he must recall the resigned prime minister—but only on the terms of the latter.

Two Courses Open

Should he refuse to resubmit the former cabinet head, there are only two courses open to him:

1. He may abdicate, which in this instance would constitute forceful removal from the throne.

2. He may—as did Charles the First—attempt to set up a government without a Parliament.

Baldwin, reported to have obtained support from the Church of England whose prelates object to Mrs. Simpson because she is a divorced woman, is supposed to have secured backing from Parliament.

The prime minister even has voiced the suggestion of a cabinet meeting in the Commons where views on the marital problem might be aired before the legislators.

Mrs. Simpson, described by her friends as agitated because her presence in the city had been misinterpreted, has continued to entertain a "small circle of friends," at dinner Tuesday night and last night, it was declared.

Must Have Been The Wrong Number

It was reported to the sheriff's office Wednesday night that the Bull Market store house on Hurley avenue had been broken into and a quantity of sugar taken by two men who drove up in a car. The license number of the car, as reported, indicated that it had been issued to Kerhonkson parties.

Sergeant Hopkins of Ellenville was notified and after an investigation reported that there must have been some mistake in giving the license number as the car bearing that number had not been run Wednesday.

Nations at Work On American Peace

Buenos Aires, Dec. 3 (AP)—Twenty-one nations of the western hemisphere started their actual work in perpetuating American peace today.

The delegation chiefs of the 21 states, forming the steering committee of the Inter-American Conference, met in the great French-style, tapestried room of Anchorena Palace, under the chairmanship of Carlos Saavedra Lamas, Argentine foreign minister.

From the conference deliberations, which the committee will guide, are expected to come inter-American pacts to keep the peace.

and line the states up against outside aggression.

Saavedra Lamas, Nobel prize winner this year, was unanimously elected permanent chairman of the steering committee, after being nominated by United States Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

From pre-conference talks between Hull and Saavedra Lamas had come indications the two saw eye to eye on the main points of the peace and trade program which the conference will attempt to work out concretely.

Saavedra Lamas sat in the center on one side of the great table around which the steering committee gathered.

Hull was at one end, with Sumner Welles, United States assistant secretary of state, on one side of him and Alexander W. Weddell, United States ambassador to Argentina on the other.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By CLAUDE E. JACOBSON

New York, Dec. 3 (AP).—Slipping tendencies were reversed in today's stock market and many recently depressed leaders recovered fractions to 4 points.

While the come-back was relatively slow, virtually all heavy industry groups participated. Conspicuous were the steels, aircrafts, rail equipments and packing issues. Near the final hour favorite stocks were around their peak levels of the day.

A revival of business hopefulness. Brokers said, tended to overshadow highly complicated developments abroad.

Prominent stock gainers included Wright Aeronautical, Douglas, Sperry, Boeing, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, Interlake Iron, Folsom Bros., Montgomery Ward, Woolworth, American Telephone, International Paper & Paper, Anaconda, International Nickel, du Pont, C. I. C., U. S. Rubber, Santa Fe, Central, New Haven, Pullman, American Locomotive, Lima Locomotive, American Car & Foundry, Paramount, Loew's and Pathe.

Stocks Drop Partly In Sympathy With Weakness Abroad

Particularly heavy flow of extra dividends marked Wednesday's business news. On slightly increased volume stocks dropped, partly in sympathy with weakness abroad. London prices were upset on news of a possible constitutional crisis over King Edward's friendship with Mrs. Wallis Simpson. General tensions over the European situation was a factor which also depressed Paris and Amsterdam exchanges.

Another A. T. & T. rate cut, amounting to $12,000,000 annually on long distance calls, was announced by F. C. C. Chairman Walker said that in consequence F. C. C. will relax although it will not end its rate investigation but will concentrate on general phases of telephone probe with view to winding it up.

Extra and special dividends included Anaconda Wire & Cable, $2; Marlin-Rockwell, $2; International Printing, $2; U. S. Tobacco, $3.75; Mark, $2; Midland Corp., five cents; Purdy Bakeries, 45 cents; Atlas Powder, 50 cents; American Snuff, 25 cents; Lehman Corp., $1.50; Pepperell Manufacturing, $5; Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator, $1.50.

Ward baking declared $2.25 on seven per cent preferred accumulations. American Agricultural Chemical voted $1.75 vs. 75 cents paid previously. Petroleum Corp. of America raised dividend to 40 cents from 25 cents. Black & Decker resumed common disbursements with 25 cents. General American Investors declared initial common payment of 75 cents.

Pacific Fruit Express, owned by Union and Southern Pacific Railroads, will buy 2,000 refrigerator cars, rebuild 1,750; total cost more than $10,500,000. C. & O. ordered two tugboats for $500,000 from Newport News Shipbuilding, B. & O. ordered 52,000 tons of rail from Bethlehem, Carnegie-Illinois and Inland Steel companies next year will match 1929 record, General Motors president, Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., predicted.

Total Chevrolet production last month was 112,229 cars, a November record, vs. 108,876 years ago. National Cash Register November sales were up 8.4 per cent over year ago, totaled $2,561,375.

Ear Grafting for Earless New Yorker

New York, Dec. 3 (AP).—A 27-year-old man born without ears hoped today to attain a normal appearance through the medium of a dead person's ears grafted to his head.

Kings County Hospital surgeons began yesterday the series of operations that will be necessary. Membrane covers the aural orifices of the patient whose hearing is unimpaired.

His right orifice was opened and with cartilage taken from the patient's collar-bone, a "flap" was made at the spot where the ear eventually will be placed.

In another ten days the "flap" will be built up further and a month later the ear will be fitted over it and grafted on. It will be covered with skin from the man's shin or thigh and if the operation is a complete success traces of the operation will be eliminated.

The surgeon's plan a similar operation in the left orifice later. The name of the patient was withheld.

No More Fishing Through the Ice On the Reservoir

District Game Protector Frederick G. DeWitt gives notice that fishing through the ice in either basin of the Ashokan Reservoir is definitely out of the picture. For years past tip-up fishing through the ice at the reservoir, particularly in the lower basin has been largely practiced, not only by local fishermen, but by parties who come from a considerable distance. Large catches of pickerel have been made in the past, but in recent years the pickerel fishing in these waters has not been so good, while, on the other hand, trout and bass have been on the increase. Tip-up fishing in waters inhabited by trout is not permitted at any time and the prohibition on further ice fishing in the Ashokan is based on the fact that the reservoir is so largely stocked with trout and therefore comes under the ban.

In connection with the subject of tip-up fishing Mr. DeWitt also calls attention to the fact that under the law tip-ups may not be used in any waters in the state until the State Conservation Department has made an announcement giving the season for such fishing and specifying the waters in which tip-ups may be used. Such an order has not yet been issued, according to Mr. DeWitt, although it may be expected at any time now. Until the order is issued all tip-up fishing is illegal.

About The Folks

Portland Vase Is Finest

Cameo Cut Glass Relic

The Portland Vase, celebrated ancient Roman glass vase or cinerary urn, was found during the pontificate of Urban VIII (1623-44) in a marble sarcophagus (of Alexander Severus, it is thought and his mother, Mammæa) in the Monte del Grano, near Rome. It was at first deposited in the Barberini palace at Rome and hence is sometimes called the Barberini Vase. It was bought in 1770 by Sir William Hamilton and in 1787 by the Portland family, who deposited it in 1810 with the British museum, where it has since remained, except for an attempted auction in May, 1929, at Christie's. When no worthwhile bid was received it returned to the possession of the duke of Portland, who announced it would continue to be on view at the British museum.

The vase was broken to pieces by a lunatic in 1845, according to a writer in the Philadelphia Inquirer, but the fragments were very skillfully united again. The vase is 10 inches high, with the ground of dark blue glass, and the figure-subjects which adorn it are cut in cameo style in an outer layer of opaque white glass. It is the finest specimen of an ancient cameo cut glass vase known.

Tyndale Martyr

William Tyndale, fifty-six-year-old Welshman who was first to issue a printed edition of any part of Scriptures in English, was strangled and burned in Brussels because of it. Tyndale, a canon at Oxford, believed the Testaments should be made accessible to the common people in translations into their own tongue from the Latin and Greek of the scholars. Higher prelates held the common people were incapable of understanding and interpreting the Scriptures, and that making the Bible available to anybody was productive of heresy. Unable to achieve his design in England, Tyndale had his translation of the New Testament from Greek printed in Antwerp, and copies were smuggled into England. But church members were forbidden to read them, and agents of the Archbishop of Canterbury even bought up copies on the continent to destroy them. Finally ecclesiastical authorities caused Tyndale's arrest in Brussels, and saw to it that he and his aides were incinerated with all their works.

Burns' Toast

Robert Burns, Scotland's great poet, lived through the American Revolution and the period of the founding of the republic. He was no admirer of the English premier, William Pitt, and once, in company, objected strongly to drinking to the toast, "the health of William Pitt," but offered to drink to the toast of "the health of a greater and a better man, George Washington."

Oil for Paint

Drying oils—the name given to the oils which dry to a varnish-like film upon exposure to air and sunlight—are important in the manufacture of paint and varnish. Linseed oil, chinawood oil, and tung oil are the three principal vegetable oils of the drying class. Menhaden, or fish oil, is the only animal oil that is suited to the requirements of the industry.

Miss Cresswell

Miss Cresswell was a woman of indomitable character who bequeathed 18 pounds for a funeral sermon in which nothing ill should be said of her. The Duke of Buckingham wrote the sermon, which was as follows: "All I shall say of her is this—she was born well, she married well, lived well and died well; for she was born at Shadwell, married to Cresswell, lived at Chesham, and died at Brideswell."

Society

This week-end Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hicks of Clifton avenue will entertain at their guest the Rev. M. G. Gosselink, D. D., pastor of the Talmadge Memorial Reformed Church of Philadelphia, Pa. Dr. Gosselink will preach at the morning service at the Church of the Comforter on Sunday morning as a candidate for the pastorate of that church. The Doctor of Divinity degree was conferred upon the Rev. Mr. Gosselink on May 28, 1936, by Trinity College of Philadelphia.

Will Give Two Plays

The Parent-Teacher Association of Public School No. 2 is sponsoring two plays to be given by the children of the graduating class on Wednesday evening, December 9, at 8 p. m. in the assembly hall at the school, corner of West Chestnut street and Montrose avenue. The first play is entitled "Columbus" and will be costumed in the period of 1492. Dances at the Court of Queen Isabella and King Ferdinand, and the Indian Dances are under the direction of Miss Helen Bradburn, physical education supervisor of Kingston public schools. Miss Margaret Decker, art supervisor, is instructing the children in making early Spanish scenery.

The second play is entitled "No Girls Admitted" and is a modern frolic which the young people are enjoying rehearsing very much. The plays have been rehearsed at the home of one of the pupils and are an experiment in Parent-Teacher and pupil cooperation. The costumes are being planned and made by Mrs. Howard A. Lewis. Miss Helen Ward from New York city is putting the final touches on the dramatic work and will personally take charge of character make-up. Miss Betty Rowland, a former pupil of the school, will play one of the dance numbers, and also Miss Adele Schwartz.

The cast for "Columbus" includes: Columbus, Emanuel Kunst; King Ferdinand, Albert Salkman; Queen Isabella, Shirley Sherry; Indian Squaw, Orally Held; Prior, Norman Davis; Indian Brave, James Hughes.

Entr'acte, "In 1822," Margaret Lewis, accompanied by Betty Rowland.

"No Girls Admitted" is acted by Harold, Mark Sherman; Robert, Sharon Sherry; Everett, John Rowland; Maurice, Thomas Tomahawk; Dorothy, Hilda Rice; Grace, Lillian Kunst; Christine, Marcella Corkery; Louise, Adele Schwartz.

Port Ewen News

Church to Give "Second Mile"

Port Ewen, Dec. 3.—At the evening service of the Port Ewen Reformed Church, the Rev. Philip Goertz, pastor, a worship drama will be presented, which is entitled "The Second Mile." The cast is as follows: Mrs. Wallin, always thinking of herself first, Mrs. C. Longdyke, Faith, an invalid, bounded by four walls, Roberta Houghtall, a peddler, who is just another peddler, Mrs. Charles Neice, Peggy Ann Royce, who is a helping neighbor girl, Gloria Win-gram, Mrs. Goff, a bargain hunter, Mrs. Tracy Jordan, Rosa Bianchi, daughter of a vegetable man, Pearl Ellsworth.

The play has been coached by Mrs. Tracy Jordan, who has directed past

HEAVY FUN AT M.I.T.

Streets Glare of Ice This Morning Milder Temperature

Snow Followed by Rain Here Wednesday — Later Temperature Dropped to Freezing and Slush Turned to Ice—Slippery Going This Morning

About three inches of snow fell here on Wednesday, and as the mercury gradually rose during the early afternoon the snow changed to rain and the streets and sidewalks became a mass of slush and water, making traffic difficult. During the night the mercury dropped to the freezing point and the slush became masses of ice. As a result the streets and sidewalks were a glare of ice this morning.

On the Wurts street hill shortly after 4 o'clock this morning seven large trucks became stalled, owing to the slippery condition of the hill, and traffic was forced to detour as the street became impassable until the Board of Public Works began the work of sanding.

The temperature gradually became warmer during the morning and the ice that had formed was again turned to slush. If the weather should turn off cold again, however, traffic will again be impeded.

The street department as yet has not brought out the snow removal equipment as the snow was not considered of sufficient depth to require the use of plows.

The coldest point reached last night was 32 degrees.

Our Growing Population.

The following births have been reported to the Board of Health: Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Sims of 117 Broadway, a son, Clyde Henry; Mr. and Mrs. James E. Fricker of 184 Emery street, a daughter, Elizabeth Louise; at Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Randall F. Van Wagon of 177 Down street, a daughter, Shirley Anne; at Kingston Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Thell of Hunter, a son, at Kingston Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Van Wagon of 84 Remond, a daughter, Marie Edna; at Kingston Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. George Schloer of Ulster Park, a son, William Harrison; at Kingston Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Walter of 224 Main street, a son, Walter Donald; at Kingston Hospital.

Boy Swears to Play.

A card party will be held on Wednesday evening, December 3, at the American Legion building on West Otis street, under the auspices of the New Street Troupe. The public is invited, and it is hoped that many will be present for the benefit of the New Street Troupe.

The blue pigment, ultramarine, is obtained from the mineral lazulite.

FTC Charges Car Financiers Demand 12 Per Cent Interest

Washington, Dec. 3 (AP)—The Federal Trade Commission charged 21 automobile manufacturers and financing companies today with obtaining a higher rate of interest on deferred car payments than they have advertised they charge.

The commission issued eight complaints charging violation of the unfair competition section of the trade commission act.

The commission said the complaints alleged the companies advertised they sold their cars on an annual 6 per cent time payment plan. Actually, the commission charged, the interest payments total about 12 per cent.

The commission said the following automobile companies had been named in the complaints:

"The Nash Motors' Company,

Kenosha, Wis.; General Motors Corporation, Detroit, and its subsidiaries, which produce Chevrolet, Olds, Pontiac, Buick and Cadillac cars; Chrysler Corporation, Detroit, and its subsidiaries, Chrysler Sales Corporation, Detroit, and its subsidiaries, Chrysler Sales Corporation, and those manufacturing De Soto, Dodge and Plymouth cars; Graham-Paige Motors Corporation, Detroit; Hudson Motor Car Company, Detroit; Ford Motor Company, Dearborn, Mich.; Reo Motor Car Company, Lansing, Mich.; and Packard Motor Car Company, Detroit.

Financing companies named, the commission said were:

"General Motors Acceptance Corporation, New York city, joined with the General Motors group Commercial Credit Company, Baltimore, joined with Chrysler Corporation and its subsidiaries, Universal Credit Corporation, Detroit, with Ford Motor Company, and Commercial Investment Trust Corporation, New York city, with Graham-Paige Motors Corporation and Hudson Motor Car Company."

City Water Supply Is Now Below Normal

The water supply in Cooper's Lake, which supplies Kingston with its drinking water, is now 11 1/4 feet below normal. The streams that supply the city's reservoir are all at a low level, and many of them are frozen, owing to the extreme cold weather of several days ago. Although there is no reason for alarm at the present time householders should use precautions and not waste any more water than necessary. The greatest waste of water is caused by householders allowing the faucets to run full force during the night to prevent the water pipes freezing. It was said.

Figures covering 47 of the leading life insurance companies in the United States show that they are investing $230,000,000 a week in urban mortgages.

Bright Costumes To Match Beaux Arts Gayety

Among the many striking costumes displayed in a preview for the Beaux Arts Ball at New York December 5 were the above three. HOLLYWOOD DIDN'T GET A LOOK

Willa Dean, 8 (center), was going to "be Jean Harlow" and Robert, 4 (right), "who can fight good," was going to play in westerns, said Josephine, 10 (left), to railroad officers when the trio rode into Richmond, Va., on a train, asserted en route to Hollywood. They came from Rocky Mount, N. C., the children of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kelley. (Associated Press Photo)

HOLLYWOOD Sights And Sounds

By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—The singing cowboy was all set up, in a modest sort of way. He had just had word that one of those magazine polls on box office popularity rated him—Gene Autry—in third place among western stars.
"An' that's not bad, considerin' we've been out here just a year and a half," said Gene. "We? That's Champ and me—and Republic studios."
First in the list, Gene reported, was George O'Brien, and next was Bill Boyd who has been doing the "Hopalong Cassidy" thrillers.
"Me, I was just lucky," 29-year-old Gene drawled in a good westerner. "I happened to come along just at the right time."
"I bet there's a hundred men in this town who can do a better job of actin' than me. I know I can't act. And I'm not after changin' over to other kinds of pictures. If I did that, I might go and I might not. If I stay where I am, just singin' and ridin', I figure I can stick around 15, maybe 20 years."
Wears Costume Constantly
Autry wears a big cowboy hat, and his necktie is a neatly tied handkerchief. He wears boots, even on the street, in the showmanlike tradition started by Tom Mix.
Even with his cowboy hat, Gene Autry can walk down Hollywood boulevard and few people will turn to stare as they do for the least important of dramatic featured players. That's because Hollywood is full of cowboy hats and cowboys, and it's the rare western star who is an honored prophet at home. But let him stroll through one of the outlying towns, and the autographs are whipped out.
Gene averages about 2,500 fan letters a month, more when he "is on the air."
Only son of a Texas rancher, Gene Autry was born in Tioga. He learned to ride when he was a youngster, but his life subsequently took him away from the strictly western life. His parents moved to Oklahoma, and Gene, who had begun singing in a church choir, joined a medicine show when he was 14—for one season.

Origin of Chintz Goes

Back to Indian Process
Chintz, so beloved by the English, first appeared in Great Britain in the Eighteenth century, being brought by sailing ships from India. These first printed pieces were in the shape of large oblongs, just the right size for bedspreads. They were known as "Palampores." The most popular design was "the tree of life," found on many British manufactured chintzes, states a writer in the Chicago Tribune.

The manner of making the first chintzes in India was such a lengthy and complicated process that the fabric brought tremendous prices. The demand for chintzes grew by such leaps and bounds, however, that soon European manufacturers were forced to copy them, and thus less expensive processes were evolved.

Then some one invented the method of making prints all in one color, and the tones of blue, red, and mauve of that period were the result. France lowered the price of chintzes, and soon places everywhere were entering the business.

4-Day Old Will Subject of Contest

A jury was selected and testimony of two witnesses was taken Wednesday in the matter of proving the will of the late George L. Van Sickle of Hurley. The will, allegedly made four days before the death of the aged man last October, is being attacked by relatives on the theory that at the time of the making of the will he was not in full possession of his faculties and did not understand the action he was taking. Under the will his property, valued at about $4,000, was left to a son, George.

Vincent F. Miller and George C. Kent, witnesses to the will, were examined Wednesday. Both testified they had gone to the home at the request of the son to act as witnesses to the will. At the time Mr. Van Sickle was very weak but they testified they considered him of sound mind and able to understand what he was doing at the time. Asked that day whether the document was his last will he was able to nod his head and also it is claimed say yes.

George Van Sickle and Mrs. Van Sickle claim that they cared for the aged man during his illness.

Mr. Miller on cross examination stated that he had heard arguments between the aged man and his son at times.

The matter is being heard before Surrogate George F. Kaufman and a jury. William A. Kelly and Guido J. Napoletano appear for the proponent and A. J. Cook for the contestants. Emanuel Metzger appears for George Van Sickle as special guardian.

The contestants are grandchildren of deceased.

At the conclusion of the examination of the two witnesses to the will an adjournment was taken until today.

"Persian Lamb"
"Persian lamb," which has nothing at all to do with Persia, comes from karacul lambs three to ten days old. It has a tight, lustrous curl from the time the lambs are born. The curl is likely to open rapidly after the first day and while the value increases with the size of the pelt, it is essential that the curl remain tight. Karacul is merely a trade name given to the lustrous, open type of fur which has a wavy moire pattern free from close curls. These skins are generally light in weight and are best if removed when the lambs are not more than two weeks' old, although this type pelt does not deteriorate so rapidly as the lamb grows as either the broad-tail or the Persian lamb types.

What with his female relatives trying to discourage his friendship with the American charmer, and Mrs. Simpson herself trying to cure him of the habit of nervously fingering his necktie, poor Eddy certainly rates a lot of masculine sympathy.

Orders Properties Held Pending Action

Justice Harry E. Schirlick has issued out of supreme court an order directing that the city treasurer of the city of Kingston shall hold in escrow certain deeds to parcels of property on Stephan street and Clifton avenue, pending the determination of an action now in court which seeks to test the validity of a special sewer assessment against the properties. The properties under dispute have been sold for taxes and the redemption period expires on December 5. The order of the court directs that the tax deeds be held pending final determination in the matter.

The order was granted by Justice Schirlick on affidavit of former County Judge Joseph M. Fowler, appearing for the owners, in the action brought to test the validity of these levies made for the purpose of meeting payment for sewers.

The parcels under dispute have been sold for taxes and the redemption period expires on December 5, 1936. The order of the court is to the effect that the deed or deeds of property against which assessments were levied for the construction of the sewers through Stephan street and Clifton avenue, and as to which redemption period is about to expire, be held by the treasurer of the city of Kingston in escrow pending determination of the action and for 60 days after the period of appeal. The order provides that if the determination is favorable to the property owners then the sale shall be cancelled or if in favor of the city of Kingston then the deeds be released from escrow and delivered over for record and the city will then convey to the owners the property provided the city with 60 days, is paid the assessments against said property with all interest, penalties and charges.

The Word Babel

The word babel characterizes tumult or confusion as of sounds, and is pronounced be'bel (first e as in prey, second e as in get). Babbie characterizes incessant idle talk; senseless prattle; gossip, and is pronounced bab'l (a as in fat). This word is from Middle English babelen, to prate; mumble repeatedly; chatter. Babel is from the Hebrew name of Babylon, so called from the association in Genesis with the idea of confusion, but by some scholars it has been traced to Assyrian bab-ilu, gate of God.—Literary Digest.

Humor Ranch for Sale
London, Dec. 3 (AP)—Authoritative sources reported today King Edward is negotiating the sale of his Canadian "EP" ranch to Lincoln Ellsworth, American explorer. Ellsworth visited the king, who had been retrenching rigidly since his accession to the throne, yesterday at Buckingham Palace. It was understood they discussed terms for sale of the ranch located at High River, Alta.
